Big Gale Smashes At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19 (AP)—The howling, raking hurricane whirled head-on against the populous city of New Orleans today with torrential rains and 100-mile winds which caved buildings and flooded lowlands. The weather bureau said at 10:15 a. m. (E. D. T.) that the tropical storm was centered 60 miles southeast of New Orleans and was screaming up the Mississippi river at 17 miles per hour. The center was to pass over the city or very close to it about noon.

Countless thousands fled for shelter before the terrifying blow, which roared out of the Gulf after strewing multi-million dollar devastation across Florida only two days ago.

Approximately 8500 persons huddled in New Orleans' municipal auditorium, and another 20,000 were reported sheltered in 40 city schools.

Many of the regugees were French-speaking fishermen, trappers and truck farmers from the picturesque bayou regions — the famed "Evangeline Country"—below New Orleans. Two babies were born in the auditorium as the storm howled.

Afishing vessel with two aboard was reported missing in the Gulf.

The entire Gulf coast, from Pensacola to Morgan City, La., reported hurricane or near-hurricane winds. Pensacola was hammered by 95-mile gusts and winds up to 80 miles tore at Mobile. Rich pecan-growing areas were being devastated, as the winds previously had ravaged the citrus groves of southern Florida.

Five fatalities were charged to the great storm in Florida, but there was no indication of probabel casualties in the new storm area.

Stinging, driving rain levelled small crops and beat cane fields. The lower Mississippi area below New Orleans was a yellowish-grey as the cyclonic wind spewed powdered sulphur through the air.

More than 10,000 persons were evacuated from flimsy, war-built housing projects along the coast, and apprehension was felt for the frame structures.

Authoritative sources said the Gulf coast was ill-prepared for the great blow, and in contrast with Florida was likely to suffer colossal damage.

Mayor de Lesseps S. Morrison of New Orleans proclaimed a state of emergency at 8:30 a. m. and ordered all persons to remain indoors, off the streets, and out of the downtown area unless their presence was absolutely necessary.

The emergency order was issued shortly after a huge sign atop a downtown department store had crashed into Canal st. No one was injured. The three-story New Orleans health center, three blocks from Canal st., was unroofed, and one wall caved in.

A 40-foot clock near Pontchartrain Beach was smashed, and historic avenues in New Orleans, lined by stately oaks, were green-carpeted with foliage, torn limbs, burning wires and debris.

Wind-piled waters of shallow Lake Ponntchartrain poured over the seawall and flooded a belt three blocks deep along the waterfront, causing total evacuation of the area by Army trucks. Fashionable Lake Shore Hospital was threatened, but was not immediately evacuated.

Twenty-one patients and nurses were sped from the Army Air Base hospital to sturdy Charity Hospital in downtown New Orleans.

Soup kitchens were set up by the Red Cross and other agencies, with relief operations centered on the great Municipal Auditorium.

It was the first serious tropical storm in this area since 1915, when 350 persons lost their lives along the Louisiana-Mississippi coast.

Between 50 and 100 ships were tied up or anchored in the Mississippi river at New Orleans, and it appeared that the storm would thunder directly through the helpless fleet.

Florida saw the last of the great storm early Thursday when it screamed into the Gulf after slashing like a mowing-machine through the swank resort sections of the east coast and westward across the citrus and truck-farming mucklands of the Everglades.

Florida was in the dreary patch-up stage today, and preliminary tabulations indicated that destruction would range upwards from $12,000,000.

BULLETIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (INS)—The Chicago cotton market suspended operation today until further notice. Cessation of trading was caused by the hurricane smashing at New Orleans, a vital cotton center.

SCAMPERED TO ALABAMA MAINLAND—Terence Savory, 4 (left), and his brother, Mike, 5, sit on their suitcase at Mobile, Ala., after being evacuated from Blakely Island, off east bank of Mobile river. Fear that the hurricane would sweep the island caused residents to seek shelter on the mainland.

U. S. to Ignore Soviet Attack, Press Peace Program in UN

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—The United States probably will officially ignore Russia's sensational "warmongering" attack in the United Nations Assembly yesterday and push forward with its proposal for over hauling UN peace machinery in the face of the Soviet Union's announced absolute opposition.

The bitter Russian blast, delivered in 8000 angry words by Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky virtually charged a conspiracy within the United States to make war on Russia. The speech was described by ranking American delegates as "so fantastic" that it would defeat itself and be written off in this country and elsewhere in the non-Communist world as straight-out Russian propaganda.

Sec. Marshall was being advised along this line by top members of his delegation, it was learned, and while a final delegation decision as to the next American move was yet to be made it was authoritatively expected to call for the silent treatment for Vishinsky.

Meanwhile, the general debate continued in the UN Assembly with a number of smaller nation delegates on today's schedule.

The Russian leader directed his unprecedented blunderbuss attack against the whole range of American foreign policy, including the Truman doctrine, the Marshall Economic Recovery Plan and continued atomic bomb production, took a quick crack at President Truman and specifically accused nine prominent Americans, including John Foster Dulles of Marshall's delegation here, of being "warmongers" trying to start a war on Russia.

Vishinsky accused each of these of making statements or writing ideas which, he contended, proved his point that they wanted war with Russia. They and others he said were seeking war both because they want American domination of the world and because they want war to offset a feared economic collapse in this country.

Some of the men described as "warmongers" by Vishinsky said he was mistaken or being "malicious," but one, George H. Earle III, said that if "he means I advocate using the atom bomb on Russia, he is absolutely right."

"I know implicitly that the moment they get the atom bomb they are going to bomb us," Earle, former governor of Pennsylvania, said. "In atomic war, fare the first punch wins."

Dulles was present when the Russian leader named him and eight other Americans as "warmongers."

"I am confident that the Assembly will quickly forget the violent personal attacks made by Mr. Vishinsky and proceed constructively, creatively and, I hope, harmoniously to deal with its important business," Dulles said.

Sen. Brien McMahon (D.) of Connecticut, former chairman of the congressional atomic energy committee, said "Vishinsky's denunciation of me as a warmonger is malicious."

JOKE MISUNDERSTOOD

Belief that Vishinsky had misinterpreted a facetious remark of his was expressed by Paisley B. Harwood, vice-president in charge of engineering at Cutler-Hammer, Inc., Milwaukee, another of the nine.

He had remarked in jest that the atom bomb was far from perfect because in addition to killing people it destroyed excessive amounts of property. He said he had suggested that a better weapon would kill but not damage property.

Rep. Charles A. Eaton (R.) of New Jersey, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, in a CBS radio address last night, said that "We must have a showdown with Russia."

"Communism is anti-Christ in concept, objective in method," he said. "Sooner or later we must stand up to the Russian government, which is Communism incarnate, and find out whether it is possible for us to exist together in this modern world."

Soviet Press Plays Up Vishinsky's Attack

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Sept. 19 (AP)—Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's speech to the United Nations Assembly—probably the strongest words ever used by a Russian diplomat against the present policy of the United States—was presented to the Soviet public today in full-page spreads in all the principal newspapers.

The full pages were insufficient to carry Vishinsky's speech in its entirety, and editors' notes said it would be concluded in the next editions. The full text went out to all provincial newspapers, and was broadcast in many languages.

Three Escape Charlestown Prison, Two Quickly Caught

Three long-term convicts, a murderer, burglar and gunman—escaped from State Prison, Charlestown, shortly after 4 a. m., today, climaxing six months of patient, mole-like burrowing through brick cell walls by the killer, who duped guards by the time-worn device of leaving a dummy in his cot while fashioning a skyward exit. Police captured two of the fugitives within an hour, less than a mile from the prison, when the trio was sighted at Pearl and Bunker Hill sts. by officers in a cruiser car answering a routine house complaint.

Nailed after a short chase were the leader, Earl Baker, 47-year-old lifer, of Howard st., Revere, and George F. Baker, 35, the burglar, of Burbank st., Back Bay, who was doing an 8-to-10-year stretch.

Their companion, George E. Hayes, 30, of Main st., Waltham, serving 12 to 15 years for armed robbery, escaped by fleeing over a vacant lot, into an alley and hiding on a dime-store roof before the eyes of a frightened neighbor at a Mystic st. window.

Earl Baker, the prisoner who had plotted the break and toiled the half-year without exciting suspicion in the guards who peered into his cell at regular intervals ,attempted first to talk his way out of custody, then blew up in temper at the setback.

"Only five more minutes and we would have been out of this section," he taunted police. "We would have been out of these clothes and out of this part of the country.

"I did all the work—and they catch two of us and I'm one of the guys to get caught. The other guy gets away."

As for Hayes and his successful break, the killer boasted:

"Hayees has changed his clothes by now and he's out of here. You'll never find him."

The snarled predication caused scores of police to search houses in the area on the promise the men had outside help and were heading for its source to get money and a change of clothing for their flight.

Officials picked up an ex-convict in the vicinity and had him under a heavy fire of questioning but he loudly protested innocence. They were also going through vacant houses in search of a clothing cache.

So patiently and artfully had the escape been carried out that prison officials did not know of it until police of the City sq. stationed telephoned them of the capture. Their information was received just as a guard making the 5 a. m. rounds found three cells vacant and ran to report.

The two Bakers, not brothers, according to Correction Department officials, were captured by Sgt. Martin Kelly, Patrolmen Joseph Kelly and John Cawley, answering the house complaint in their cruiser.

The Bakers were walking on one side of Pearl st., Hayes on another. The sergeant told his driver, Patrolman Kelly, "Stop and back up; those men don't look good to me."

As the police car halted, one of the Bakers ran east on Pearl st., the other west but both were caught after a brief chase.

Hayes broke across the vacant lot, down the alley and disappeared. Not until later did police learn he had been peering at them from behind a chimney on the dime store. Mrs. Margaret Strout, who had gone to her window as a result of the noise, saw him crouch there until the officers left but was too excited and frightened to cry out a warning.

Earl Baker, who had protested to the arresting officers he had been released from prison a year previously, gave up the role when they found in his pocket a commissary card showing he had made purchases at the prison within recent days.

He told them how, with the trio in adjoining cells, he had loosened brick after brick, then made his way into a ventilator from which he loosened bricks in the cells of the others. The mortar he scraped from the bricks he carried out into the yard at recreation hours and surreptitiously got rid of in small quantities.

Then he moled up through a ventilator and the stage was set.

Guard Charles R. Baldwin told his superiors he had checked the West Wing cell block, where the three escapees have adjoining cells, at 4 a. m. He said all three were in their cells.

He said he found the men missing on his 5 a. m. call and was sounding an alarm when the call came from Charlestown police of the two recaptures.

Once they climbed through the grating, the trio reached the roof of the West Wing, dashed to the wall facing the railroad tracks and dropped 22 feet to the ground without being spotted by tower guards.

As soon as the break was discovered, Warden Lanagan ordered every one of the 900 prisoners kept locked in their cells until a complete investigation can be made. Breakfast was served to all prisoners in their cells.

The warden said Guard Baldwin was a new employe and had been on the job only 10 days.

Earl Baker was sentenced March 12, 1930, from Essex County for the murder of William Fendell, a Saugus storekeeper.

George Baker was sentenced in October, 1945, in Middlesex County after being found guilty of a series of Greater Boston holdups.

Hayes was sentenced from Bristol County after being found guilty of a Fall River safe robbery.

Dep. Warden John J. O'Brien, assigned by Warden Lanagan to report on the break, a few hours later said:

"George Baker was housed in cell 176 in the west wing of the prison, the oldest section.

"Earl Baker was in cell 177, right next door. Between the cells is a brick wall one foot thick. It was through this wall that the two brothers cut.

"The cell of George Hayes is at the rear of that of Earl's and a similar cut was made into Hayes' cell, No. 185, through another one-foot-thick wall.

"The men then went out the roof of Hayes' cell to reach a ventilator and reach the roof, after which they dropped 22 feet onto the railroad tracks."

Warden Lanagan said he first was informed of the break at 5 a. m. and sounded an immediate alarm and had a check made on the entire prison. He later went to the Charlestown police station to identify the two men recaptured.

Girl, 24, Dies In Escort's Car

Miss Geraldine Haberline, 24, of Mystic ave., Somerville, collapsed and died early today while riding along Bennington st., East Boston. She was then taken to East Boston Relief Hospital by her escort, Robert McLaren, 26, of Ray st., Lynn.

McLaren told police they had been out for the evening and were driving home when she was stricken suddenly. The body was turned over to Dr. William Brickley, medical examiner, for an autopsy.

Open Safety Pin Taken From Baby Boy's Throat

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP)—Fifteen-months-old Donald County is eating with gusto again after physicians removed from his throat an open safety pin that went undetected until the child fell from his crib.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter County, said Donald refused to eat much for several days but they did not realize what was wrong until they had summoned Dr. Joseph Klein to examine the child after his fall.

Springfield Man Held In Time-Clock Killing

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 19—Alvin N. Miller, 32, of Essex st., father of three small children, pleaded not guilty in district court today to a charge of murder in the "time-clock" slaying of his estranged wife, Fannie, 24.

Miller's plea came at the conclusion of a 10-minute bench conference between attorneys and Judge William J. Granfield. He was held without bail for hearing Sept. 26.

Three women and two men, unidentified, sat in a front row of the crowded courtroom and wept throughout the arraignment.

The victim, whose divorce petition was scheduled for hearing today in Probate Court, was shot as she was punching a timeclock at the end of her day's work in the Guild Bag Co. in Chestnut st.

More than 30 other employes witnessed the shooting and claimed that after the first shot felled Mrs. Miller, two more shots were fired into her body as she lay on the floor.

Three men employes overpowered Miller and held him until Patrolman Henry Foy arrived. Miller ceased to struggle and handed a .32 calibre revolver to the officer.

Capt. William Monahan quoted Miller as saying he and his wife had been estranged since last March when they had arguments over money. He further quoted Miller as saying:

"I went home from my job as a painter and dressed up, taking a gun I brought home from overseas.

"I went to the building where my wife works but I couldn't find out for a while what floor she worked on.

"I finally met her coming out toward the time clock. She wouldn't talk to me about the kids and started to run toward the office. That's all I'm going to say now."

The victim and the accused slayer have three children, Beverly Ann, 8, who lives with her father, and Marina, 3, and Alvin Jr., 14 months, who live with the victim's parents.

Heiress Anita Oser To Wed Student

PASADENA, Sept. 19 (AP)—Two prominent families will be joined with the wedding tomorrow of Anita Oser, 23, McCormick-Rockefeller heiress, and Linus Pauling, Jr., son of the internationally known scientist.

The young couple are both students at Pomona College.

She is the daughter of the late Mathilde McCormick Oser and Swiss army officer Max Oser, and the first great grandchild of the late John D. Rockefeller. Miss Oser and her brother, Max, inherited an estate of $3,600,000 when their mother died last May.

Dr. Pauling, the bridegroom's father, is chairman of the chemistry division at California Institute of Technology.

Food Cost Probe In Hub Develops Senatorial Split

A split among Congressional committeemen investigating the high cost of living over testimony collected in three days of hearings here was disclosed today by clashing statements of members as the committee conducted its final New England hearing at Manchester, N. H.

The Senate subcommittee moves on to New York next week and will conduct similar hearings along the lower Eastern seaboard while two other subcommittees hear testimony in the Midwest and West Coast areas.

The net results will be reported to Congress by February.

As the committee left Boston, members were in open disagreement over what they had heard from Bay State representatives of business and consumers.

Sen. Raymond E. Baldwin (R.) of Ct., said no evidence of profiteering was turned up locally.

"On the contrary," he said, "retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers here demonstrated that if they turned back their profits it would not mean much in the overall picture.

SPADEWORK NECESSARY

"The claim has been made that manufacturers, big business and the farmers were getting too big profits, but we have had no direct evidence of that."

Sen. Francis Myers, (D.) of Pa., countered with:

"It looks as though we have a lot of spadework to do to get to the bottom of this. Prices have gone away up and yet everybody seems to be losing money.

"The retailer is just getting by, the wholesaler is not making anything, the packer is losing money. Butter has gone up to a dollar a pound and everyone's losing money on it."

The five-man committee was unanimous in agreeing that prices of food and clothing were too high and were just as unanimously puzzled over what to do about it or where to place the blame.

CONSUMER REGION

New England was pictured as a region of consumers by Sen. Baldwin, who said the group would have to go elsewhere to study the production of basic commodities, such as grain and hides, which are imported into these states.

He added:

"I think the committee realizes to a greater degree now that the New England dairy farmer is in effect a consumer himself. He must purchase at an extremely high price the feed for his herd from another section of the country, just as the housewife must pay dearly for the flour for her bread."

In response to numerous inquiries over just what the committee is doing and what it aims to accomplish, the following statement was issued regarding its mission:

"To make a full and complete study and investigation of the present high prices of consumer goods and to report to the Congress not later than Feb. 1 the results of the study and investigation of its subcommittees, together with such recommendations as to necessary legislation as it deems advisable."

PET PROBLEM

ROSLYN, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—A stranger in a bar handed Otto Steih, Jr., the end of a leash and said:

"Hold this a minute, pal. I'll be right back."

But the stranger didn't return and that's why the Steih family was wondering what to do today with a raccoon.

12 Face Court After Revere Gaming Raids

One woman and 11 men faced Chelsea district court on gambling charges today in the aftermath of a series of raids by State Police in Revere.

With troopers drawn from barracks throughout the state, Lts. George Alexander and Michael J. Noonan descended on two dwellings and a store to make their surprise arrests.

Mrs. Ruth Green, 25, of Boulevard, Revere, was the only woman arrested. Seven other persons were seized in the Ocean ave. residence where she was taken.

Also arrested at the Ocean ave. house and charged with registering bets were: Maurice V. Lynch, 40, Ocean ave., Revere; Azad Koolloian, 36, Marlboro st., Chelsea; Sydney Stern, 47, of Brown st., Brookline; Frank Minez, 41, Vine st., Somerville; Irving Rhotstein, 24, Woodrow ave., Dorchester; Harry Kaplan, 24, Esmond st., Dorchester and Samuel Kaplan, 43, Wales st., Dorchester.

In addition to being charged with registering bets, Lynch was booked for setting up and promoting a lottery.

At a Mountain ave. house, police scooped up $500 in bets from a table and arrested Abraham Sarkis, 33, of Rockvale cir., Jamaica Plain; Robert Murray, 30, of West Concord st., Boston, and Frank A. Sciaippa, 34, of Woodward ave., Roxbury. Sarkis was charged with promoting a lottery and the others with registering bets.

One lone arrest at Beach st. and Ocean ave. was Samuel Engles, 40, of Beach st., Revere, charged with setting up and promoting a lottery. The location is a variety store.

CUSTODY SOUGHT—A Chelsea overseas veteran, Gerald J. Bellmore is fighting for custody of his son, 4-year-old Gerald (above), in Suffolk Court. Bellmore is opposed by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Morway of Oxford, who have cared for the youngster most of his life. Judge John V. Mahoney has held up testimony until he determines suitability of Bellmore's home.

Suitless Diver Goes Down 400 Feet, Pays With Life

TOULON, France, Sept. 19 (AP)—Maurice Fargues, 34-year-old French sailor, descended nearly 400 feet beneath the surface of the Mediterranean without a diving suit last night and paid with his life for the experiment.

Fargues, a petty officer, dived with only a face mask, rubber "frog feet" bound to his ankles and three oxygen bottles strapped to his back. Every 15 feet he stopped to sign one of a series of plates hanging from the side of the sloop from which he went down.

At 390 feet—a depth at which the water pressure was about 170 pounds to the square inch—he signed the last one in distorted, unreadable script.

Then his rope signals to fellow divers aboard the vessel—the Elie Monnier, which is to take part in Prof. Auguste Picard's "bathyscope" descents in the Gulf of Guinea—ceased and he was brought to the surface, unconscious. He was taken to a hospital, where he died.

The divers were attempting to establish a world record and French newspapers, without mentioning the previous record depth for such a descent, said Fargues exceeded it.

Truman Reaches Cape Henry

ABOARD U. S. S. MISSOURI, Sept. 19 (INS)—The battleship bearing President Truman home from Rio de Janeiro reached Cape Henry right on schedule today.

Radar devices aboard ship picked up the outline of the Virginia cape from a distance of 12 miles shortly before 9:30 a. m.

Mr. Truman, his family and staff are to transfer at Norfolk to the presidential yacht Williamsburg, which will carry them to Washington, where they are to arrive tomorrow morning.

Immediately after his return to the capital the President is expected to tackle the problem of high food prices—but not to ask for voluntary food rationing.

DeValera Joins In Trade Talks

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera of Eire came to No. 10 Downing Street for vital trade and dollar talks today as the government acknowledged that Britain's balance of trade grew worse in August, despite the drive for exports.

Both exports and imports were down from July's figures, but the adverse trade balance (excess of imports over exports) increased 18 per cent from the previous month.

The government board of trade blamed summer vacations and a fewer number of working days in August.

Treat Crime As Sickness, Expert Urges

If crimes were treated as an illness, many criminals would not be committed because there would be no satisfaction in it for certain potential criminals who want to "take it out on society."

This attitude toward crime was advocated today at the New Eng- Parole and Crime Prevention at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, by Robert M. Mulford, general secretary of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

"It is no fun to tease a fellow who doesn't get angry and fight back," Mulford said. "Can you imagine a so-called criminal walking into a police station and telling the desk officer, 'I feel as though I am going to commit a crime. Can you help me?' That could happen if attitudes toward crime and its treatment changed."

Mulford proposed a national crime prevention week "to dramatize this problem and focus attention on the public responsibility in preventing crime." He emphasized that public complacency was one of the most serious obstacles to a constructive community crime prevention program.

Reporting on alcoholics, Raymond E. McCarthy, executive director of the Yale Plan clinics, told the delegates:

"The principal difficulty experienced in working with court cases in New Haven has arisen out of lack of supervised housing facilities during early stages of treatment.

"The majority of these men are homeless and without funds. Some kind of a short term housing facility, which is not a jail and at which adequate medical and social facilities are available, is imperative if progress is to be made with this type of drinker."

Warring Aged Pair Get Divided House

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19 (AP)—The house of of 83-year-old Walter J. Aries and his 84-year-old wife, married 57 years, has been divided by court order.

The two appeared in domestic relations court three weeks ago on her suit for separate maintenance, but agreed to try for a reconciliation. Yesterday Mrs. Aries was back in superior court.

"It's driving me crazy," she said in a low voice. "I want some kind of separation."

Her daughter, Maud Aries, 40, testified the husband would awaken Mrs. Aries from naps to argue with her.

Red Disavowal Deadline Oct. 31

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board and Robert N. Denham, its general counsel, today allowed AFL and CI top Oofficers until Oct. 31 to sign affidavits disavowing Communism.

Effect of the action is that the board will not dismiss AFL and CIO cases before that date.

Denham has interpreted the Taft-Hartley Labor Law as requiring national officers of the two big labor organizations to sign such affidavits if any AFL or CIO unions are to make use of the NLRB's services.

Townes Retained In Cottle Defense; Fund Hits $2000

HYANNIS, Sept. 19—The public fund being raised here to finance the defense of Gerard C. Cottle of West Yarmouth, charged with the bludgeon-slaying of his wife, Priscilla, mounted today to $2000, with an announcement that Atty. Eben G. Townes of Brockton had been retained as counsel for the accused plumber.

Atty. Townes was defense counsel for Mrs. Bertha E. Cote of Brockton, who pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the Christmas Eve murder of her husband, Rene. Bertha is serving a 3½ to 6 year term in Sherborn Reformatory.

Subscriptions to the Cottle defense fund began pouring in after an appeal, signed by Frank W. Roderick, brother of the slain Priscilla, and friends of the accused, had appeared in local newspapers. The sponsors hope to raise $3000.

Also signing the appeal were John D. Cannon of West Yarmouth, former employer of Cottle, and the Mayflower Hotel of Hyannis.

"My sister is dead now, and nothing can bring her back. I realize George must be punished to some extent, but myself and family hope the punishment will not be too severe. Something must have snapped in his mind when this thing happened.

"We are going to try to keep up the home he recently purchased, in the hope he may be permitted to return to it and his three children who need him so badly."

Townes said today he would confer with Cottle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cottle, Shawmut ave., Boston, and Roderick and Cannon tonight. Tomorrow he will visit Cottle.

HEARING FRIDAY

Roderick was not the only close relative of the slain woman to take a stand at the side of the man charged with murdering his sister.

Mrs. Mary Santos, also living here, a sister of the slain woman, has already visited Cottle in Barnstable County jail to encourage him. Next Friday he will face a hearing before Judge Paul M. Swift. The case will then be given to the grand jury which meets Oct. 14.

Early Sunday morning, according to police accounts of Cottle's alleged confession, the defendant stood outside the door of his modest home in Albion st., West Yarmouth, where his three small children lay asleep. They had told him their mother hadn't been home all evening.

BACKGROUND OF CRIME

At 1 a. m. a car pulled up in front of the house and from it stepped his wife. In the car, police said, was Kenneth Perry, 30, West Yarmouth odd-jobs man and father of two children, now out on $8000 bail as a material witness.

A moment after Perry drove off into the stillness of the rural night Mrs. Priscilla Cottle was slugged on the head with a rock. Police said Cottle then went into the house, waited a moment, then went out and struck his wife on the head again—this time with an iron pinch bar.

He dragged the body to a nearby cranberry storage shed, authorities added, and placed it under the floor. It was found there Sunday afternoon by her brother, Alfred Roderick, whose family occupied the Albion st. home with the Cottles.

NOT "SOCIAL RIDE"

There was more to the midnight ride of Perry and Mrs. Cottle than a casual sociable evening's entertainment, police charged.

When Perry was held as a material witness, State Police Lt. John F. Dempsey told the court:

"I am convinced Perry and Mrs. Cottle were planning to go away together."

Their plans were almost complete, he intimated. In the slain woman's purse, he said, was $90 and two birth certificates, one in Perry's name and the other in her name.

Whatever Cottle's emotions were at the time of the slaying, he sought and was granted permission to attend the requiem mass for his wife last Tuesday in St. Francis Xavier Church here. Silently, and with bowed head, he heard the mass while handcuffed to two police guards.

In explaining his decision to aid Cottle, Roderick said in his Spring st. home here:

"I will probably be criticized for what I am doing. I realize Jerry has been charged with the murder of my sister, but I am thinking of the three children. Furthermore, he has been a good friend of mine and my family for many years."

TO SEE FATHER

Roderick said he planned to confer today with Atty. Townes in Brockton and then go to Boston to see Cottle's father, George, of Shawmut ave., South End.

Roderick's wife, Audrey, after a visit to Cottle in Barnstable County jail, supported her husband's stand and said:

"We're all for Jerry. We are trying to do all we possibly can to help him."

Mrs. Santos, a widow with six grown children, is caring for Kenneth, 2, youngest of Cottle's three children.

After her visit with Cottle, she said:

"When I told Jerry what everybody was doing for him, he said he was very happy to have so many friends. As for us, we feel as though Jerry is one of the family. We have known him so long and he has always been a good father. We hope his penalty will not be too severe."

She said she hoped to keep Kenneth with her throughout Cottle's "trouble." The eldest Cottle child, Sandra, 8, was with Frank Roderick, while Cottle's parents took in Beverly, 4.

Hub Widow Suicide Laid to 'Plot' Fears

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., Sept. 19 (INS)—An imagined plot by relatives to seize her $100,000 estate was one of the motives being investigated today in the bizarre poison suicide of Mrs. Mary Humphrey Tower, 55, widow of a former Boston manufacturer.

The woman's body was found sprawled across a bed in her fashionable home in the Emerald lake foothills. On a bedside table lay two glasses partly filled with a liquid weed killer containing arsenic. A third glass held the dregs of a whisky cocktail which authorities said Mrs. Tower apparently had used as a "chaser."

Nearby was a big card, about two feet by two and a half feet on which the distraught woman had scrawled i black crayon the followinig message:

"Fight it, everybody!

"I don't wan to live to see the battle!

"You see, Ellen, I work fast, too! Aren't you glad! How little I knew that you were scheming from the first, even through your 'helpful (?) letters!"

The "Ellen" was identified as a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Morris, wife of a North Carolina physician.

The mother had also scratched a large "x" across the glass framed face of a portrait of her daughter on the bedroom wall.

Beneath it she had scrawled:

"Thanks, Ellen I don't want to live anyway"

Thomas W. Morris who arrived by plane from Hollywood, told investigators he was the attorney and business adviser to both Mrs. Towers and her husband. He identified the latter as the late Frank S. Tower, who had operated a radio manufacturing company and a bakery chain in Boston as well as a Cape Cod resort. He died in March, 1946.

State Refutes Key Points in Overell Case

SANTA ANA, Cal., Sept. 19 (AP)—The defense in the Overell murder trial has swung its "Sunday punch" but the prosecution was right back today offering rebuttal against all the key points made in behalf of heiress Louise Overell and her lover, George (Bud) Gollum, charged with murdering her parents.

The defense highlighted its case yesterday by producing a surprise witness, R. H. Sandon, private investigator, who testified a 50-pound box of dynamite was found in the garage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell, the victims whose bodies were found aboard their yacht after the craft was blown up last March 15.

Gollum has testified he was asked by Mr. Overell to buy dynamite for him and keep the purchase secret.

Prosecutor Eugene Williams put on three rebuttal witnesses.

HENN QUADS GET READY TO GO HOME—The famous Henn quads of Baltimore, Md., (l. to r.) Bruce, Joan, Donald and Tommy, have their suitcases all packed as they await arrival of their parents at St. Agnes Hospital, that city, to bring the youngsters home for the first time. The quads, nearly nine months old, have been living at the hospital where they were born because the parents had no rooms or quarters available for them. Kind-hearted Baltimoreans contributed funds for a new home. It has been completed. They start home today.

Ruby Foo Son Waits Verdict In Shooting of Stepfather

After final arguments, the case of Earl Shong, 24, son of Ruby Foo, charged with assault with intent to murder in the shooting of his stepfather, William Wong, today was to be given to a Suffolk Superior Court jury.

As the final witness, Shong testified he was afraid his mother was going to get hurt and came to her defense.

Shong testified he was playing gin rummy in the living room of the house with a guest when he heard his mother and William quarreling. His mother called to him, he said and the guest suggested he "find out what its all about."

Then he said, he heard his mother cry:

"Don't hit me with the hammer, William, you'll kill me."

He testified he grabbed a gun from the linen closet and ran up the stairs. He saw William, he said, with a hammer upraised over his mother and told him to drop the hammer and "aimed at his arm or shoulder" and shot when William retained the hammer.

TOMORROW SATURDAY AT 2:15

MEET Bill Cunningham AND "The Pearl of Her Sex"

and Alice Dixon Bond, distinguished Herald literary editor

All three will autograph your first edition copy of "The Pearl of Her Sex." See and hear the radio interview from WHITE'S Sports Shop over WNAC.

Mrs. Bond will interview not only Bill Cunningham about his rollicking saga of husband-putty in a wife's hands—but also the subject and predicate of it all, "The Pearl of Her Sex" in person! All three will autograph your copy of the book you (and your husband) will want to laugh with endlessly. It is life as lived on Millstone-on-the-Neck, written with the delicacy of a two-handed grip on a battle-axe, homey, human, hilarious—your favorite columnist with his gloves off, but (shh!) his heart on his sleeve! 2.50

Come to the informal interview and broadcast from White's Sports Shop, Second Floor, over WNAC at 2:15, Saturday, September 20. Signed copies may be ordered by mail or by phoning HUB. or TRO. 7430. But if you come in, you'll have more fun!

Coal Product Cuts Tire Cost

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Cheaper rubber tires through a product from coal were predicted today to the American Chemical Society. Carbon black, the sooty chemical used in high percentages to toughen tires, can be obtained from coal, and in mass production could be produced cheaper than carbon black now obtained from natural gas, said C. E. Stokes, director, and Eli M. Dannenberg of Godfrey L. Cabot & Co., Boston.

A rubbery plastic which promises to become a new basic raw material for use in shoes, bookbindings, handbags, upholstery, football covers, hospital sheeting, electrical insulation and other uses was described by J. W. Perloff and G. W. Flanagan of the B. F. Goodrich Chemical Co.

This plastic (geon polyblend) is strongly resistant to oil, chemicals, and aging, and can be vulcanized.

Fear Foul Play As Search for Teacher Fails

PITTSFIELD, N. H., Sept. 19—Failure of State Police to uncover any clue to the disappearance of Miss Marie Lysle, 50, of Beverly Shore, Ind., newly-appointed teacher in the local public schools, missing since Sept. 6, increased fears today that she may have met with foul play.

The second teacher to disappear in New Hampshire this month, Miss Lysle was last seen when she drove with another teacher to Alton, where she planned to board a bus to Wolfeboro and continue from there to Ossipee to visit a friend.

State troopers learned that she reached Wolfeboro, but said they had been unable to ascertain whether she reached Ossipee, although several Ossipee residents claim to have seen a woman answering her description.

While keeping in touch with her home in Indiana, on the theory she may have gone there, police today were checking bus line officials for possible information.

Miss Lysle's absence was unnoticed by local school officials until she failed to report for her classes Sept. 8, the opening day.

When last seen, she was carrying a small overnight bag.

The first teacher to disappear, Miss Dorothy Wilder of Ashby, Mass., was found after a week-long search as she sought to cross the border into Canada at Calais, Me.

South Boston to Be Site Of New Housing Project

South Boston will be the site of another big housing project, to be erected off Broadway with 975 apartments for persons with low incomes, Mayor Hynes announced today. He said construction is due to start next year.

He was also informed from Washington that the Old Colony project with its 873 apartments would remain in federal hands and would not be sold, the present occupants keeping their homes.

$151,000 Book Given to Yale

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Sept. 19 (AP)—President Charles Seymour of Yale announced today the university had received a perfect copy of the Bay Psalm Book, first book published in the American colonies, as a gift from a group of alumni and friends.

The book was purchased at a New York auction last January for $151,000 by Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, one of the 28 who presented the volume to Yale.

James T. Babb, librarian, said the book was considered to be one of the world's most famous and far rarer than a Shakespeare first folio.

"It is considered by bibliophiles to be comparable in importance to the Gutenberg Bible," he said.

Mystery Death Inquest Resumed

Inquest into the death of Joseph B. E. Dugnis, 38, Hyde Park ave., Roslindale, who died of a skull fracture four days after he was sent to Deer Island House of Correction last June, resumed today before Judge Barron in Municipal Court.

He had been sent to the island June 14 when Judge Carr revoked a three-month suspended sentence after he was brought to court charged with non-support of his wife, Mrs. Marion Dugnis, and two small children, of Auburn st., South End.

The inquiry has established Dugnis was arrested at his home June 14. He showed no signs of injury but police said he appeared to have been drinking and on arrival at Deer Island was treated in the medical ward.

Three days after he fell in his cell and suffered a contusion over the eye. The next day he died.

Medical Examiner Brickley found a surface wound on the back of the head which had been treated. Beneath the wound was the severe fracture, which, Dr. Brickley estimated, was four or five days old.

Sister Kenny Offers Polio Aid To Vets, Kin

Special to the Boston American

DETROIT, Sept. 19 — Sister Elizabeth Kenny hopes ultimately to make her infantile paralysis treatments available without cost to all American war veterans and their children anywhere in the U. S., it was disclosed today following announcement of the Michigan plan.

The Michigan plan, announced by William G. Baxter, director of the Sister Kenny Foundation of Michigan, will provide all expenses for veterans or their children, even transportation from anywhere in Michigan to the nearest accredited hospital which gives the Kenny treatments. It went into effect today.

Said Baxter:

"We are announcing this in connection with Sister Kenny's birthday tomorrow.

"It is publicly announced that the facilities of the Sister Kenny Institute in Minneapolis and of the Sister Kenny facilities anywhere in the U. S. will be available to war veterans and their children without cost to the veteran or his family.

"This offer covers all American veterans, of all wars.

"In Michigan, transportation costs when necessary for veterans or their children will be borne by the Sister Kenny foundation of Michigan, as will all costs, including hospitalization and therapeutic treatments."

The only requirement, it was stipulated, is that the treatments be prescribed by the family doctor or other physician treating the case.

The plan to offer special aid to the veterans originated with Sister Kenny herself, it was disclosed after the formal announcement.

White House Staff Bigger Than Ever

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—At the height of the war in December, 1944, President Roosevelt's White House staff totaled 683 persons.

Under President Truman in peacetime the staff has risen to 1076 payrollers, according to a survey by Sen. Aiken, (R.) of Vermont, chairman of the Senate committee on expenditures in executive departments.

Aiken's report showed that while the White House was boosting its payrolls, 186,318 persons were fired from government jobs in six months, up to July, 1947.

Truman's staff today is divided up as follows: Bureau of the budget, 565; office staff liaison and management workers, 292; executive mansion and grounds workers, 55; office of government reports, 135, and council of economic advisers, 28.

Elephant's Tread Fatal To Woman Circus Employe

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 19 (AP)—Mrs. Gertrude Burton, 64, wardrobe mistress for the Dailey Brothers circus, was crushed to death when an elephant stepped on her at the circus groundse after another elephant had knocked her over accidentally.

Witnesses said Mrs. Burton was walking between the two animals when one of them turned suddenly. The elephant's trunk struck her and she was knocked down. The foot of the other elephant came down on her chest, crushing it.

Chicago, N. H., N. E. Lead in Stork Derby

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—Chicago among the major cities, New Hampshire among the states, and New England as a region are out in front in the Stork Derby of 1947.

Figures from the vital statistics section of the Census Bureau, covering the first seven months of the year, told the story today.

Chicago, with 52,241 babies born up to July 31 this year, as compared with 35,446 in the same seven months of 1946, established an increase of 47 per cent. This edged out Boston, where the 1947 total for seven months was 25,120 compared to 10,425 last year—an increase of 45 per cent.

New Hampshire's seven-month total of 14,558 as compared to 9907 a year ago is a 59 per cent increase, a full seven percentage points ahead of Ohio, where 114,263 babies, compared to 76,387 for the corresponding period of 1946, gave a percentage increase of 52.

The six New England states, producing 38,827 babies in the first seven months this year as compared to 27,39 last year, has a 46 per cent increase, or five points ahead of the East North Central group, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Nationally the increase was 35 per cent over the first seven months of 1946. The actual figures were 2,089,757 this year and 1,549,163 last year.

The vital statistics figures are closely watched in Washington by educational housing, food production, public health and infant supply groups, in connection with long-range planning programs.

SAY UNCLE!

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 19 (AP)—A tenant contesting an eviction suit accused his landlord of breaking his arm after he refused to pay a rent increase.

The suit was brought by Edward K. Smyth who seeks to evict James R. Green. Smyth alleges Green created a nuisance by calling police and having him arrested.

Green replied through counsel that he called police after he suffered a broken arm in an altercation with the landlord when the latter proposed to raise the rent.

'Bartered Brides' Features Weekly

A quarter century of misery and unhappiness is a costly price to pay for a title. And yet that is just what Consuelo Vanderbilt paid after she married the nobleman her mother choose for her.

The story of Consuelo's forced marriage to the ninth Duke of Marlborough, and the horrible lesson she learned, will be told in "Bartered Brides," to be featured in Sunday's American Weekly, magazine issued with all editions of the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Another American Weekly special for Sunday will be "Four Paths to the Chair," in which Donald A. Laird, psychologist and lecturer, describes the devious roadways four young men took in meeting the same tragic end.

Tucker '48

the first completely new car in 50 years

DOORS OPEN 9 A. M. to 10 P. M.

MECHANICS BUILDING

Huntington Avenue, Boston, Mass.

COMPLETELY NEW? Yes! For years you've seen cars gradually improved through annual model changes. But in this car you step into an entirely new automotive age...years and years ahead of conventional cars in performance, in economical operation, in safety, and—mark this—in value, too.

Tucker '48 has dozens of exciting engineering features, any one of which would be headline news in a normal year... features completely new, yet completely proved in fifteen years of rigid tests.

You'll See.. the first rear-engine car on American roads... the car that sets a new standard of value... bigger, better and more car for the money.

You'll See.. a car with no conventional clutch, transmission or differential... powered by a 150-horsepower rear engine that delivers power direct to the rear wheels through hydraulic torque converters.

You'll See.. completely new hydraulic disc brakes, 63% more effective than conventional brakes, and many exclusive safety features.

You'll See.. this revolutionary new car in all its beauty spotlighted on a revolving stage, graced with lovely fashion models.

You'll See.. a center headlight that turns with the wheels to light your way around corners... a spacious luggage compartment under the hood... and a car so roomy that four adults can sit comfortably in the front seat.

You'll See.. the Tucker Talking Chassis which tells the story of the many exclusive Tucker features and shows how Tucker engineers have eliminated 800 parts of the conventional car. And you'll see movies of the Tucker '48 being driven from the world's largest, most modern automotive plant where it will be made.

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 19—Atty. William J. Fenton of Taunton was today appointed assistant district attorney for Bristol, Barnstable, Dukes and Nantucket counties by Dist. Atty. J. Edward Lajoie of Fall River.

First Asst. Andrew P. Doyle and Second Asst. Benjamin Horvitz will continue in their present positions, Lajoie announced.

ONE EXTRA BOUT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19 (AP)—Round one between the wrestler and the lady ended with the grappler, K. O. Koverly, paying a $200 fine on charges of assaulting Mrs. Gloria Dupres, 21, at a recent match.

But round two was upcoming as Koverly immediately signed a complaint accusing Mrs. Dupres of first attacking him with a nail file.

Koverly weighs 150, Mrs. Dupres 110.

Watertown Twin Strangles in Crib

A verdict of accidental suffocation was given by Medical Examiner Morton Gallagher today in the death of James Sollogub, 3 months, a twin, who died in his crib in the family home in Arsenal se., Watertown.

Mrs. Elliott Sollogub, the child's mother, found the youngster gasping for breath. Efforts of police, firemen and neighbors failed to save the child's life.

O'Neil Assails Red Menace, Child Crime

Special to the Boston American

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 19—James F. O'Neil, national commander of the American Legion, assailed Communism and juvenile delinquency as the greatest threats to American democracy.

Addressing the National Ass'n of Broadcasters at their 25th annual convention, O'Neil said democracy and Communism are locked in a savage battle of ideologies.

"Communist Commandment No. 1 denies the principle and outlaws the practice of democracy," declared the Legion commander.

"In every country where Communism or any other totalitarian rule prevails, freedom of press and radio is first to feel the axe. Shorn of that basic support, a complete cave-in of the democratic structure is inevitable."

PEDDLERS OF COMMUNISM

O'Neil asserted that even now there are "paid peddlers of Communism" working overtime to undermine freedom of the press and radio in the United States.

"They change names and socks with equal facility," O'Neil said. "Their only allegiance is to World Communist headquarters."

He charged the people of public expression mediums to give these plotters the bum's rush they deserve, but said at the same time it is up to the rest of the nation to keep Communist operations under careful surveillance.

O'Neil praised the radio industry for its work during the war and added that because the broadcasters of America have so thoroughly demonstrated their loyalty to the timeless doctrines of democracy, "radio bids fair to become the world's foremost moulder of public opinion."

DISASTROUS WAR PRODUCT

The Legion commander has been a member of the National Americanism Commission of the American Legion for 15 years. In such capacity he has had close-quarter contact with the problems and conduct of American youth.

"It is my conviction born of this experience," stated O'Neil, "the Public Enemy No. 1 in America today is juvenile delinquency.

"An up-surge of crime among school-age boys and girls emerged as the most damaging of war's by-products."

Among the cornerstones of our society are respect for lawful authority and the inviolable rights of the individual, said O'Neil.

"Let denial of that respect become a hobby and the entire society will burst at the seams," he added.

NEW ROLE

NORTH ANDOVER, Sept. 19—Even the sons of the first family of Massachusetts have the same ideas on what makes a hero as the gang down at the local schoolhouse, Gov. Bradford disclosed here.

Upon being named an honorary member of the Mass. Police Chiefs' Ass'n, the Governor remarked:

"The ambition of young boys is to be either a policeman or a fireman. When my boys learn I am now a police chief they will be much prouder than they have been over my being governor."

Rush Wedding

CYNTHIA VOSE of Brookline is having the same exciting experience setting a wedding date as most society brides had during the war. Being engaged to an officer in the Navy Medical Corps assigned to sea duty she has twice cancelled wedding plans this month because of his orders from Uncle Sam.

A couple of days ago her fiance notified her to rush through plans to be married tomorrow because he has received an unexpected leave and is due to arrive here tonight. He is Lt. (j.g.) Paul Trowbridge Carroll, USNR, MC.

It will be a small family wedding, probably at Leslie Lindsey Memorial Chapel, and the invitations will be by phone as soon as the time and place are certain. Cynthia has her wedding gown all ready for the big event and dresses for her bridesmaids, who will be Mrs. Joseph Frederick Lockett, Jr., of Newton Center, sister of the bride, and Emily Garritt of West Newton.

Cynthia Vose

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Norton Vose of Brookline, a graduate of Beaver Country Day and Smith College 1945. She made her debut in June, 1940, at a luncheon with Mrs. Oliver Wolcott Hayes (Nancy Joy Bernard) of Newtonville.

Lt. Carroll is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Raymond Carroll of Columbus, O. He attended Phillips Andover.

THE NAMES of a dozen young ladies have been added to the Boston debutante list for 1947-48, bringing to just over 200 the number of girls coming out this season. This is the largest group in many years.

Recent additions to the list include Katharine Hooker of Washington, D. C., who will make her debut in Boston under the wing of her aunt, Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge; Sally Ames, daughter of Mrs. Ernest Charles of Beverly Hills, Cal., and granddaughter of Mrs. Roger W. Cutler of Boston; Helen C. MacLachlan of West Newton; Ailsa Armstrong McCouch of Philadelphia, whose aunt, Mrs. Russell Robb, is planning a dinner party in her honor around Thanksgiving; and Theodora Winthrop, whose mother is Mrs. Archibald Cary Randolph, a former Bostonian living in Virginia. Mrs. Randolph is planning to present her daughter to Boston society later in the season.

Also Virginia Verges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Verges, 2nd, Betsy Craig Smith, Mary Lee Gaines Peck, Antonia Parkman, Elizabeth Ann Burgess, and Anne de Conselyea Northrop of Middlebury, Ct.

Holy Hour at Braves Field To Climax Catholic Meeting

Highlighted by a Holy Hour at Braves Field, clergy and laymen of the Catholic Church will assemble in Boston from Oct. 1 through Oct. 5 for the fourth national convention of the Holy Name Society.

Archbishop Cushing announced that more than 100,000 persons will attend the first national meeting of Holy Name since the New York convention in 1936.

The big day will be Sunday, Oct. 5, when 100,000 men will parade Boston streets in an elaborate religious ceremony depicting devotional and historical scenes.

For 12 hours, men of Holy Name will be reviewed by Archdignitaries from a reviewing stand bishop Cushing and other church at the Public Garden.

Included in the line of march will be 1500 members of the New York police department and 500 members of the fire department of that city.

Candlelight Holy Hour will be held at Braves Field on Friday night, Oct. 3, at 8:30.

Judge Connelly Given Medal by City Club

Judge John J. Connelly, presiding justice of the Boston Juvenile Court, was awarded the Boston City Club's service award medal for 1947, at the annual meeting of the club.

Col. Lewis E. Moore, president, in presenting the medal, eulogized Judge Connelly's outstanding contribution to civic welfare, especially in rehabilitation of delinquent children.

WAKING UP!

THE GENTLEMAN from Newton strolled into our office early this morning looking like a character in the family album. If the linen duster, goggles and visored cap that stamped him as a man distinctly apart from the ordinary run had not overwhelmed us, the blend of moth balls and petroleum which exuded in choking volumes from him would surely have succeeded.

"I'm on my way to Hartford," said he, ignoring our perplexity.

"Not to buy insurance?" said we, politely implying that our visitor's rather unusual attire was not liable to impress the examining physicians, to say nothing about the psychiatrists.

"I aim to join the Glidden Tour," said the Gentleman from Newton, disdaining our attempt at humor.

"The what?" said we, silently hoping that Glidden was not giving Cook too much competition.

"The Glidden Tour marks the golden jubilee of the first horseless carriage caravan from the Connecticut capital to the summit of Mt. Washington," explained the Gentleman from Newton in the painstaking fashion of one who has small patience with ignorance. "I am confident that my trusty 1910 Locomobile will transport me in safety, if not in glory, over the historic route."

We wanted to observe that any 1947 Ford would undoubtedly do it much more quickly and cheaply, but the Gentleman from Newton was not in the kind of mood that encourages irrelevant utterances.

"How truly marvelous it is," he went on, "that a vehicle built 37 years ago in New England continues to give useful service."

"It would be a million times more marvelous if Locomobiles were still built in New England," said we.

"AND WHAT," demanded the Gentleman from Newton, "has that to do with the Glidden Tour, which is a sportsman's event with a sort of social flavor?"

"This—simply this," said we; "instead of wasting your time and money on Locomobiles, Stanley Steamers, Mercedes and other pioneer motor cars, why don't you do something to revive the New England automobile industry? Whether Grandpa's car will climb Mt. Washington or fall apart before it begins the ascent isn't particularly important; and no doubt Grandpa, having shaken off the shackles of this earthly life, is not unduly concerned with such mundane matters. But a factory like the General Motors plant or Willow Run would be a veritable godsend to Massachusetts."

"I daresay we could build automobiles, if we were so inclined," said the Man from Newton.

"Of course we can," said we. "The first practical cars were produced in New England. We had monopolized the nation's carriage industry for years, and it was only logical that we should turn to automobiles back at the turn of the century. We had the experience, ingenuity and craftsmanship."

"But we lacked the vision," interrupted the Man from Newton.

"It was worse than that," said we. "The textile magnates controlled our manufacturing cities and had a rather effective stranglehold on Chambers of Commerce, politicians and various investment houses. In the automobile industry they saw a threat to their power, and they wanted no part of it. So Ford, Chrysler and the many other motormakers thrived in Michigan while the textile magnates continued to hold sway in New England until certain alterations in the labor laws convinced them that the South, with its more embryonic humanitarian views, was a better place for them."

"I HAVE an idea," said the Man from Newton, removing his duster, goggles and visored cap and tossing them onto the file cabinet. "I think I'll forego the pleasure of the Glidden Tour for the present. Instead, I'll take my Locomobile into the highways and byways of New England, and I'll make a point of parking it in front of Chambers of Commerce and City Halls; and if it must blow up, I hope it will have the good sense to restrain itself until it gets close to a State House, where the noise can rouse a Governor. To everyone within range of my voice I shall say: 'YOUR GRANDPARENTS BUILT THIS KIND OF AUTOMOBILE; WHAT KIND ARE YOU BUILDING?'"

"You think that will have a beneficial effect?" said we.

"I don't know," said the Man from Newton, "but it might awaken our people to the fact that New England is capable of much more than being an inn-keeper for tourists who earn their money elsewhere."

A blast that might have been an earthquake or lightning at its worst rocked our office and all but shattered our eardrums. "My Locomobile," said the Man from Newton, grabbing his belongings and disappearing.

We can predict a wakeful future for New England.

Gather ye rosebuds while ye may
Old time is still a-flying
And the same flower that smiles today
Tomorrow will be dying.
The age is best which is the first
When youth and blood are

Times still succeed the former.
Then be not coy, but use your time,
And while ye may, go marry;
For having lost but once your prime
You may forever tarry.

HOW MANY THINGS can you name that have remained priced at a nickel for over 40 years? All I can bring to mind right now is the New York subway fare and cough drops. Somebody should write an article, "The Rise and the Fall of the Nickel." I believe the nickel reached its 20th century buying peak around 1910. At that time you could buy an ice cream soda for a nickel. Or a schooner of beer. Or a hot dog. You could even see a picture show for a nickel. And for the same price get a ham sandwich or a cup of coffee. Those were indeed the days! Nobody at that time ever referred to the five-cent piece as "the lowly nickel." It was a powerful coin. And now look at it.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—Who popularized the songs "I Had Sixteen Dollars in My Inside Pocket" and "Kelly, the Rolling Mill Man?" Answer this or resign from the Young Old Timers. A—You have me baffled. But I don't think this injures my standing as a "Young Old Timer." It takes an "Old Timer" to remember who first sang the ancient ditties you refer to. Q—How do you like your roast beef? I saw it stated the Duke of Windsor likes his roast beef rare and that people who like it otherwise just don't understand food. A—I don't care how the Duke of Windsor likes his roast beef. I like mine medium rare. Q—I remember the winds at the Flatiron Building corner blowing the skirts of the ladies about and the gay blades and "wolves" of the period hanging around the spot. But I can't seem to recall all the words of the poem about "The Dust in the Bad Man's Eye." Can you quote it? A—The immortal lines referred to are as follows:

Duke of Windsor

The devil sends his wicked winds,
To blow the skirts knee high,
But God is just. He sends the dust
To close the bad man's eye.

SIDELIGHTS: As for the query regarding blue-eyed animals. Siamese cats are blue-eyed. A New Yorker tells me she has a blue-eyed dog, a Dalmatian. A Bostonian claims to be in possession of a blue-eyed monkey . . . Many people think the British film, "Great Expectations" will win the 1948 Academy award. It should win some kind of award. It is truly a wonderful picture.

LARGE GIRL: Of course, there is nothing to the claim "nobody loves a fat man." Apparently that goes double for stout females. A Chicagoan, who states her weight is 260 pounds, says she has "more requests for dates than she can handle." I wonder how her dates handle her? I mean 260 pounds is quite a bundle of loveliness to have on a lap. Incidentally, this young woman says she once reduced her weight 125 pounds in three months. But she didn't like being thin. So she let herself grow stout again. And now everything is wonderful.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Baltimore, Md. and San Diego, Cal. are the two most difficult cities for bookmakers to make a living in. The horse players in those towns are very smart fellows. Chicago is the bookie's paradise with New York city second . . . Note Richard Rodgers, the musical show genius, says the best hotel in the country is the Ritz Carlton in Boston. I'll take the Hotel Plaza, New York. But maybe I am prejudiced. The Boston Ritz bars dogs, the Plaza doesn't.

ASIDES: A Manhattan amanuensis says she can change a typewriter ribbon in 30 seconds. Ask your beautiful secretary if she can do the same. If she can, she doesn't have to buy me a stogie . . . A Pittsburgher states he is still using the safety razor issued to him when in the service in World War I. This razor is marked "Property of the U. S. Army."

SUGGESTION: Somebody should invent a portable seat to be used by table hoppers. Then, when the table hopper is a female, the man at the table will not have to continue to stand up during the conversation. The portable seat for table hoppers should be easy to invent. It could be on the order of that portable seating gadget used at golf tournaments, hunt meets, etc.

PASSING BY: Ada Rice. Smart looking Chicago socialite and sportswoman. Races a large stable of thoroughbreds. She owns the horses.

"It's NOT that I'm lazy, sir—it's just that on Mondays an' Tuesdays I'm recuperatin' from the week-end, Wednesdays I get that middle-of-the-week rundown feelin', Thursdays I'm recuperatin' from those Wednesday feelin's, an' Fridays I just can't concentrate, thinkin' of the approachin' week-end . . ."

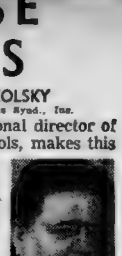
V. T. THAYER, educational director of ethical culture schools, makes this point:



George E. Sokolsky

"I oppose the use of public funds for parochial schools for two reasons. First, because it violates the American principle of separation of church and state, and second, because it would weaken if not destroy public education as we have developed public education in this country."

This controversy is exciting attention in many communities. Bills concerning it are being introduced in State Legislatures. Not to discuss it, because it is controversial and involves religious groups, is cowardly. This is a serious American problem that can divide our people and play into the hands of the Communists and other subversive groups. Let us have it in the open—completely in the open.

Two of Mr. Thayer's arguments are often accepted as correct: 1—The separation of church and state; 2—That compulsory education and the public school system are synonymous.

The separation of church and state in no manner eliminates religion from the American system. The Constitution states:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof . . ."

THE PROHIBITION is laid on the government not to interfere with religion; not to favor one religion as against another. It is a provision to prevent the federal government from forcing men to join a religious sect, or to prohibit them from joining a religious sect. It is a provision designed to safeguard people from a government policing of their mentalities and their faith. But it in no manner withdraws religion, faith in God, from American life.

In the case of Quick Bear vs. Leupp, 210 U. S. 50, 1908, it was decided that:

"A contract made at the request of the Indians between the commissioner of Indian Affairs and the Bureau of Catholic Indian Missions for the payment of such money for the support of Indian Catholic schools, does not violate the Constitution."

In accordance with this decision, the government of the United States or any state may enter into a contract or agreement or understanding with any religious group without violating the Constitution. During the past war, both the Army and Navy entered into relations with three religious bodies, the Catholic military ordinariate, the Jewish welfare board, and the Protestant general commission of chaplains in relation to the chaplain services. This was not separation of church and state; it did involve cooperation of church and state.

Every session of both Houses of Congress is opened by religious prayer; the phrase "In God We Trust" appears on our coinage, etc. The constitutional interdict does not prohibit religion in the government; it forbids the government from interfering in religious matters.

The United States has achieved an amazingly brilliant record in providing free schools, paid for by local taxation, from the kindergarten through college courses, for the children and youth of the country. In most states, provision is made compelling children, willing or unwilling, fit or unfit, to attend school up to a specified age.

But neither the federal government nor state governments nor municipalities may prohibit children from attending other than public institutions, provided the independent schools qualify scholastically.

There are numerous parochial and private schools, often charging fees, which are preferred by some parents to the public schools. Mr. Thayer himself directs such a school. The children attending such schools must conform to state disciplines as to attendance, health examinations, courses leading to graduation, etc.

WHILE THE VIRTUE of the public school system is not questioned, many parents wish their children to be reared in a less secular atmosphere. Rich parents can send their children to such church schools as Groton, St. Pauls, St. Marks, etc.; less wealthy parents may send their children to day schools of this type.

Catholic parents send their children to parochial schools. This has been an American way since Colonial days. In fact, one of the oldest schools in America, the Collegiate School, was founded by the Dutch Reformed Church more than 300 years ago.

In view of this, it is difficult to see the validity of Mr. Thayer's paragraph, unless specific objection is made to Roman Catholics.

That raises another and more serious question altogether.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRI., SEPT. 19, 1947

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19 (INS)—Sam Wood is the first important producer to come out and say right out loud that he's retrenching. Most of them are doing it—but get any of them to admit it!

Sam has temporarily shelved "The World in His Arms," the Rex Beach novel which was to have started early next year. Also shelved are the Ellin Mackay Berlin book, "The Land Is Bright," "Turnip's Blood" and "Jubal Troop," all high budget pictures. Sam says very frankly that he's going to buy a property that can be made inexpensively and bring in better returns at the box office.

I agree with Joseph Schenck, who told me when I talked with him that pictures can be made even better by paying more attention to the story and less to embellishments. Joe should know—he's been in the business a long time and gone through many phases.

PUT THE NAME of Terry Moore down in your book because you're going to hear a lot about her. Her real name is Helen Koford. She lives in Glendale, and she's just starting her career as an actress. She's only 19, but Harry Cohn liked her tests so well that he gave her the lead opposite Glenn Ford in "The Return of October."

Terry Moore

I must admit that Terry, and we might as well start calling her that, isn't completely new to pictures. She played Ingrid Bergman as a child in "Gaslight." She was also in PRC's "Devil on Wheels" under the name of Jan Ford.

"October," by the way, is the name of a horse and the story is a fantasy with a race track background.

RICHARD CONTE, who, it was whispered, was on suspension because he didn't like his role in "Northside 777," is in Chicago and very much in the picture. If he had any doubts about it he's all right now. It's news when anyone at 20th goes on suspension, so I didn't much believe it at the time.

Conte's wife, formerly an actress, is resuming her career. She'll go to New York for a little vacation and then join Dick in Chicago.

Richard was very good in "The Other Love" with Barbara Stanwyck. In fact, he's gradually building up a following, so it's nice that he didn't kick up his heels.

THE MOST REFRESHING young person I have met in a long time is Wanda Hendrix, whom you'll see in "Ride a Pink Horse," as Robert Montgomery's leading lady. She was also in "Welcome Stranger." She isn't yet 19, and I'm writing a Sunday story about her for Pictorial Review.

Wanda came to see me with Audie Murphy, most decorated hero of the last World War. Such a nice boy.

"Are you engaged to Audie?" I asked her.

"No," she said, "I'm in love and I'll probably marry Audie, but we are not engaged."

I am saving the rest she told me for my Sunday story, but seldom have I met a young girl who so completely captivated me. Usually at this age they are tongue-tied and frightened—but not Wanda.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: When Sylvia Fine (Mrs. Danny Kaye) reported for work at Warners, her office was filled with flowers from her admirers, and conspicuous among them was a bouquet from Danny.

Danny doesn't report until the first of the year, when he starts work on his first Warner picture, but Sylvia is already writing his songs and has sumptuous offices on the Warner lot.

Someone close to the Kayes believes there is a possibility now of a reconciliation, and that things are looking better. This person says Danny will come back to Sylvia after he gets enough of his freedom.

I wondered what Walter Lanz was up to when I heard he was in a heavy discussion with multimillionaire Bruno Paglial, president of the Hipodromo de las Americas race track in Mexico City.

Seems that Walter, who is the town's veteran producer of animated cartoons, may desert them to do a full length live action picture for the Paglial interests, his first venture in this field.

It was before my time with the Hearst papers, but I know Walter started his career as a copy boy for the New York Journal-American in 1916. Greg La Cava was a cartoonist on the same paper then, and the two joined forces to make one of the first animated cartoons the screen ever had.

"The Birth of a Nation," first great motion picture ever made, was shown Sunday night at the Academy Theater, and it was very nostalgic when Jean Hersholt introduced Donald Criep, who played General Grant.

Donald said there was a little mistake in the program, that actually the picture was made 35 years ago instead of 33. Ye gods, I reviewed it when it played in Chicago, and did interviews with Lillian and Dorothy Gish and Mae Marsh.

Mae Marsh

The picture today — and I've seen it 12 times—has sets that are still excellent. How they ever took care of those big crowds without the megaphone system, I'll never know.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: You would be surprised at the name of the good Samaritan in the big black car who takes Cyd Charisse for a drive every day. Cyd is still on crutches.

Townsend Netcher leaves for the World Series on the 26th, and for a visit to his mother in Chicago. Then when he returns here the last of October he and Mrs. Harriet Taylor will marry. Says T., "I have never been out with any other girl since I met Harriet."

It has just come to my attention that Johnny Arthur, fine character actor, has been unable to get a screen job and has been working in the kitchen of a local hotel. Certainly there is a place for a good actor like Johnny in our movies.

A telegram reads: "Haven't opened negotiations for any night club in Hollywood. Will you please tell everybody. Your friend and great admirer, Joe Frisco." Well, Joe, maybe your pal, Charley Foy, thought you had.

I am so sorry I cannot go to the opening of "Unconquered" in Pittsburgh as I planned. It's impossible for me to get away now. I did so want to accept the Press Club's offer and to visit my newspaper, the Sun-Telegraph. I had hoped until three days ago to be able to make it

Johnny Davis helping celebrate Bob Buncon's 25th anniversary with the Bank of America, and his own good luck at Warners. They were at the opening of the new Black Hawk Restaurant.

Dr. John Duzik says the young lady seen with him is not June Haver, but a girl with whom he is keeping company, and whose name he will not divulge.

Three weeks ago I said that John Payne and Gloria de Haven were expecting another baby. Two days later it was denied in another column. Now that columnist announces it as news. Bad business denying other people's stories unless you are sure of your facts.

Dave Epstein and Harry Sherman are going to the World Series. Dave says it's his first vacation in 25 years. Now, Dave!

Kay Kyser, who is always doing something for someone, is going to speak at the convention of the American Hospital Ass'n in St. Louis. He'll talk about public health.

Broadway's Voice

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—I have just glanced over my notebook on the coming Broadway season and I refuse to indulge in the traditional melancholy autumnal pleasure of worrying about the theater.

I know there is moaning at the bars; I know things look black to those unable to find suitable roles or amenable angels; I have heard the phrase "things are terrible!" caroming through Shubert Alley for the past six weeks. I even attended (briefly) the painful unveiling of the fall's first turkey, "The Magic Touch," which was enough to make a playgoer buy a season pass to the Roxy and call it a year.

But I am not discouraged. The shadows of coming events fall in patterns of promise and fascination on the Broadway scene. Talent is on the wing. The scent of the smash hit is in the air. It won't be long—and I can hardly wait.

I can hardly wait for, among other offerings, the Theatre Guild's "Allegro," which at a cost of several hundred thousand dollars provides the Rodgers and Hammerstein usual tricked up with Greek chorus, treadmill, and the audience as the leading character.

A FRIEND of mine, who hasn't been the same since her 5-year-old daughter began to take up art, doesn't know whether to be frightened or delighted at the child's Dali-like disdain for conventional subjects. Her worries began the other day when the little girl announced that she was about to draw "a picture of a crazy girl."

"Yes, dear," murmured my friend, in that vague, sweet way parents have of imagining they can cope with infant offspring. Several minutes later the child placed her masterpiece before her mother.

"But, dear," said the parent, making conversation, "the little girl's feet are growing right out of her chin."

The artist studied her work briefly and shrugged in the direction of her imbecile parent.

"But mother," she said gently, "I told you she was a crazy girl!"

I AM WILDLY impatient to view Jerome Robbins' semi-autobiographical "Look Ma, I'm Dancing!" which will be a gay and noble experiment if, for once, a work based on the ballet comes through with a degree of truth and accurate observation.

I will be in my seat on time, or ahead of time, on the opening night of Tennessee Williams' provocatively titled new play, "A Streetcar Named Desire."

Who could resist the prospect of John Gielgud and Judith Anderson in "Medea"? Who with the price of a pasteboard could fail to take in Maurice Evans in "Man and Superman"? Who would not be curious to see Jonn Van Druten's new one, "The Druid Circle"?

Of course there will be flops. The theatrical season, like Thanksgiving, is nothing without turkey. But there will be enchantment, too. Perhaps in the form of the period musical, "High Button Shoes." Perhaps it will come with the revue "Inside U. S. A.," which will take a satirical look at the whole great wide beautiful nation.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke

I'd place a small bet on "The Inspector Calls," the British hit directed by Sir Cedric Hardwicke and fortified by the presence of actor Thomas Mitchell.

I HATE MYSELF for it, but I must admit I am inevitably fascinated by the characters who stand in raised cubicles and demonstrate miscellaneous wares for dime and department stores.

I am quite a student of these types, and I believe my years of observation qualify me for the conclusion to which I have come recently—to wit, that most of them are terribly miscast.

Every time I have seen a pot cleaner, a venetian blind duster, a floor wax or a carpet spot remover demonstrated, it has been in the hands of an elegantly groomed and handsome young woman, usually with a broad "A," exquisite fingernails and an air of not knowing one end of a vacuum cleaner from another.

But at the cosmetic counter, where the patter is of youth, glamor, shimmering hair, rose petal skin, pale pink pancake and indispensible mascara, the expert unfailingly is a housewifely old soul, comfortably plump and casually coiffed, and obviously determined to let Nature's well enough alone.

Just for the record and even though it's a great picture, why are they charging $1.50 for the third run of "Gone With The Wind" when it was only a dollar and a quarter for the original? . . . I'd like to know what kind of youth beverage Jack Haley drinks. He's in his forties now, but he looks younger than when he was in his thirties. Whatever the secret, it ought to be bottled and sold at your neighborhood grocer's or supermarket.

Wonder why no enterprising merchandising magnate has thought of keeping a department store open from 5 p. m. to midnight for the benefit of career girls, working men and housewives whose domestic pursuits keep them tied to stove, sink and regfrigerator all through the day? A local bazaar can be as tempting—and as much fun to visit—as the local movie.

Washington Scene

By George Dixon

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—This sounds much too pat, like seeing a man-eating shark actually eating a man, but when I got back to Washington I found that Sen. Homer Ferguson, of Michigan, was going around moaning in agony.

The gray-thatched inquisitor, who has been in the bullpen warming up for another setto against Hughes, Meyer, et al come Nov. 17, complained that his sinus was giving him fits.

"A sinus condition is usually aggravated by an allergy," said Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, of Wisconsin, sympathetically. "Are you allergic to anything in particular, Homer?"

"Yes I am," snapped Sen. Ferguson. "I'm allergic to whitewash!"

IT IS THE FASHION for Washington dwellers, when they find themselves in other parts of the country, to confide to avid listeners that they don't see how they manage to stand life in the nation's capital. They put the slug on Washington morning, noon and night, endeavoring to give the impression that they wouldn't stay here one minute except that they are forced to do so by dire circumstances.

I guess I have been as guilty of this as anyone else. As far as I have been able to figure out there are two motivations: First, it seems to be the thing non-Washingtonians want to hear; secondly, it makes you appear an iron man, impervious to the slings and arrows which would dent any ordinary mortal.

I realize now that there is little sincerity behind this. Of course I should have realized it all along from my observations of defeated Congressmen. Instead of giving vent to gladsome crys of release and hieing home to what they have always yammered was God's country, they move heaven and earth to find excuses for staying on in the capital. They want to go home about as much as Sen. Brewster wants to go double-dating with Elliott Roosevelt.

I WILL CONFESS the old town looked awfully good to me. The sight of the Capitol dome from the air is something to give you rhapsodies. It is strong, beautiful and friendly. You look down upon it and say:

"As long as that stands, we're going to be okay."

Everything about the town looked good to me, even the lobbyists in the hotel lobbies. I don't know whom lobbyists do their lobbying on when Congress is not in session but they continue to stick around. Although they gouge sucker-clients for thousands of dollars they never seem to spend any of their ill gotten gains on out-of-town vacations.

I must be in a very mellow mood because even Leon Henderson didn't look revolting. My first evening home I saw him bouncing up and down in the throes of a rumba like a helium-filled behemoth. He seems to throw his stomach in the air and then catch it again on the second bounce. I dunno how he does it but he does.

APROPOS of the Brontosaurian left winger, practically every where I went in my travels someone gave me the old this-is-just-between-us - insiders smirk and asked me what I knew about the progress of a plot between Henderson, Henry Wallace and President Truman to pull off a last minute get-together next year, thereby bringing all the radicals and pinko riffraff over into the Truman camp.

When I professed ignorance, which is no trick for me, having once flunked the entrance exams to a school for retarded children, they said: "Well, it's definitely in the bag. This Wallace business has just been part of a big hocus-pocus to line up both sides for Truman."

MY LAST STOP before coming back here was Canada. How things have changed up in the Dominion. A year or so ago Americans who visited Canada were writing drooling letters home about wallowing in juicy steaks this thick. Now Canada is in the throes of a meat shortage as bad as any we had here.

What should be the land of greatest food abundance in the world in proportion to its population, is on short rations—and Canadians are muttering bitterly that too much of their substance is being drained off for the mother country.

There's almost nothing for a visitor to buy in Canada. The U. S. Customs is the tip-off to this. Inspectors used to ransack the luggage of travelers from Canada. Now they just ask perfunctorily if you have anything to declare, pat the outside of your suitcase, and wave you through.

Old Colony Riders Fight Rate Jump

Led by State Senate President Donald W. Nicholson, South Shore commuters protested vehemently at Weymouth Town Hall the proposed 40 per cent passenger fares of the New Haven Railroad's Old Colony line.

"We people of the South Shore and Southeastern Massachusetts may consider taking over the railroad ourselves if nobody seems capable of operating it profitably," Nicholson said.

"We need only six or eight tracks at South Station and we could get along with a lot fewer vice-presidents and traffic managers."

Rep. Nathaniel Tilden of Scituate declared that the proposed rates would only drive passenger business away and increase the road's losses.

Solon Sees National Guard Guarantee of States' Rights

Special to the Boston Evening American

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 19—The National Guard, recruited within and controlled by the States of the Union, is the founding fathers' guarantee of protection against a centralized military dictatorship in time of peace, as well as a basic component of all-out national defense in time of war.

Sen. Edward Martin, (R.) of Pennsylvania, a veteran of both World Wars, staunch advocate of a universal military training program including strong emphasis on National Guard and Reserve Corps development stressed the state of the National Guard [illegible] here today.

He spoke at the annual convention of the National Guard Ass'n of the U. S., pledged his full support to universal military training and urged the National Guard personnel, as citizens, to work diligently for its enactment into law as soon as possible.

Sen. Martin quoted the Constitution in outlining the provisions for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, reserving to the states, respectively, the appointment of officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress.

"The reserving of certain powers to the sovereign states was to prevent an overpowerful central government from destroying the States," Sen. Martin said. "The National Guard is a fundamental part of that plan."

Sen. Martin then tore into the multiplied cost of federal government during the past 20 years, as an indication of the New Deal trend toward centralized government and increasing power in the national executive branch of government at the expense of the legislative branch and of the States, both in point of money and of directing power.

Dan Tobin Hints At Quitting AFL

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 19 (AP)—Daniel J. Tobin, president of the International Teamsters Union, hinted at withdrawal of his group from the AFL in connection with refusal of the AFL General Executive Council to sign the non-Communist affidavit required by the Taft-Hartley Law.

Speaking before a meeting of the Indiana State Drivers Council, Tobin said:

"If Denham keeps on, he may force me to go independent."

The teamsters' president referred to a ruling by Robert Denham, attorney for the NLRB, that no AFL union was entitled to use services of the NLRB unless all members of the General Executive Council signed the non-Communist affidavit.

B. C. SEEKS $600,000

Boston College has launched a drive for $600,000 for construction of a building for its business school, made necessary by an increase of 141 per cent in enrollment this year over the heaviest prewar year, it was announced today.

Ask almost any hockey fiend who the great ice-man of 1914 was, and you'll get a fast answer—Hobey Baker of Princeton.

Yet, in the toughest tilt of the season and still the longest college game on record, Hobey's Tigers suffered defeat at the hands of a lanky, raw-boned Harvard substitute who stumbled around on skates like a string-halted rooster.

But lantern-jawed Lev Saltonstall made up in stubborn doggedness what he lacked in speed and grace during that 38 minutes of extra play—until finally he rammed home the winning goal.

Ask almost any political expert today who will be the Republican presidential and vice-presidential candidates next year and you'll get a fast answer, too. They'll reel them off for you—Taft, Dewey, Stassen, Eisenhower, Bricker, Warren, and so forth.

But here in New England, some of the smart boys are saying that if the GOP convention should get hung up in a tie vote, as did that hockey game long ago, 55-year-old Sen. Saltonstall might get sent in as a substitute.

SEEKS ONLY SENATE

And since he's made it pretty definite that he isn't campaigning for anything except re-election as Senator in '48, it would be another case of him being sent in late in the game—if it should happen.

Meeting him, you get the impression of a raw-boned farmer in a store suit. While the callouses on his hands come as much from tennis racquet and golf clubs as from work on his farm, it's still a farmer's handshake. All of which belies his ultra-blue-blood background.

That heritage, incidentally, has proved a political kiss-of-death to many another politician—and you'd certainly expect it to in Massachusetts, where 70 per cent of the Boston vote alone is recently-arrived (by Boston standards) Irish.

But along with such ancestors as Abigail Brooks, who served hot chocolate to the Minute Men, and Presidents John and John Quincy Adams, Saltonstall also has such forebears as former Gov. James Sullivan, which qualifies him for the Charitable Irish Society—and settled that particular political problem!

ALMOST UNBEATABLE

In Bay State politics, Saltonstall has been almost unbeatable. He served 16 years in the State Legislature, eight of them as Speaker of the House—a record unequalled in nearly 150 years.

He was three times Governor, equalling another record nearly a century old.

Meeting him, you understand why a sometimes cynical national news magazine once wrote that he had a "reassuring face" in which "deviousness would have a hard time finding a hiding place."

Sitting in his office, you know he's a shrewd politician because he has a veteran campaigner listening on one side and an ex-newsman listening on the other—to see that he doesn't say the wrong things.

You can summarize the New England attitude in the words of one Irish cab driver from South Boston:

"Salty's a pretty solid citizen," a lot worse things could happen to the country than having him for president."

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST RETAILER OF FINE FOODS

SHIMMERING satin shines brightly in fall's fashion spotlight whether it is black, mahogany brown or pussy willow gray. Its wonderful glow makes it ideal for a cocktail, dinner or theater dress. Such a frock is this one designed by Eddie Rubenstein of Crestlee to fit your body like a second skin. Simple as a nun's habit in front . . . the back is dramatically draped, gathered and caught at the hip in a bow that is guaranteed as a beau-catcher. Fitted zipper closings at the bottom of the long sleeves increase the tapered look.—R. M.

Young Bridal Aids

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: 1—At my wedding I would like to have my brother (aged 3) as ringbearer and my niece (also aged 3) as flower girl. Would it be proper to have them walk together?

2—Since they are so young, I would like to have my sister, my attendant, walk up the aisle behind them, to keep an eye on them and to put them in the right seats after the processional. Would it be all right for her to walk alone, following the two children? —A. B.

1—Yes. It is entirely correct to have the ringbearer go up the aisle with the flower girl.

2—Yes, it would be quite all right for your attendant to walk behind these two little children, rather than, as is the customary way, in front of them . . . and undoubtedly this arrangement would be a very practical one!

The Flattering Hat

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE wide-brimmed picture hat is probably the most flattering hat of all time. It's the sort of thing that just naturally brings out the best in a woman.

But our lives are no longer centered around strawberry festivals in the parsonage grounds, steamboat rides up the river and lorry rides into the country with a picnic lunch. These were the doings for which a picture hat (in natural leghorn with wide velvet streamers) was necessary and usual equipment.

Women who long for the flattery of a picture hat, yet demand practicability, too, will find solace in the modified version, made in twisted satin and velvet, designed by Braagaard and sketched today. Its bonnet crown is of draped amethyst satin intertwined with darker amethyst velvet. The brim is moderately wide and flared up from the face. Its edge is twisted with two tones of satin and velvet.

Automatic Lipstick Makes Hit

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

WE MAY NOT be the talk of the town (give us time) . . . but we certainly were the cynosure of all eyes and had them talking at a recent luncheon-meeting when we nonchalantly flashed from the handbag a full three-and-a-half inches long, "queen-size" automatic lipstick . . . and made with the mouth picture!

Conversation stopped short . . . silence momentarily prevailed until we completed the lip job with this conversation piece as exciting as the new long dress we wore. Then came in rapid fire sequence: let me see it . . . Whose is it . . . when is it coming out . . . in how many shades . . . etc, etc, etc. We felt like a strutting pouter pigeon . . . but secretly we are mightily pleased and proud. For we, too, think this longer fashion in lipstick is something really terrific!

The new, all important longer look is, of course, the biggest fashion news in 10 years! Longer hem lines, longer strands of pearls, longer earrings . . . so what could be more natural as a perfect makeup accessory for the longer fashions than a longer-looking fashion in lipstick? Smart, sophisticated . . . it is a natural for the gal who takes her chic seriously!

HANDSOME, REGAL-LOOKING CASE

The beauty house introducing this "queen-sized" automatic lipstick has been responsible for many "firsts" in the cosmetic world. Actually this three-and-a-half-inch lipstick is a jumbo version of the regular size automatic lipstick . . . which, also, had everybody talking when it was first introduced.

Because it's a handsome, regal-looking case of black or aqua enamel . . . that requires only one hand for complete operation . . . just a downslide of the gilt crown with your thumb and there's your lipstick, pointed to perfection for easy application! The timing couldn't be more perfect!

This is a daring season . . . a season of great flash and femininity! The elongated lipstick is perfect foil and dramatic background for the new clothes! Do you like to cause sensation? Do you like to be among those especially noticed? When you proudly display this jumbo lipstick that opens with a flick of the fingers . . . you'll get a few extra glances!

And, of course, there's a great, generous amount of lipstick in this "queen-size" version . . . almost twice as much as the regular size. So select the shade you fancy most. There are five important fall shades to choose from . . . all of wonderful lustre-lip texture. If you are not as adventuresome as we are . . . get the regular size, which, also, has the automatic opening and closing. It is a pleasure to use a lipstick that requires only one hand for complete operation . . . eliminating the fumbling routine of getting the top off and on again!

For the name of this elongated "queen-size" automatic lipstick (or for the regular-sized automatic one, as well) phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, any day except Sunday, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

YOU DON'T have to have royal blood to look and act like a queen this season. As dramatic counterpart for the new, all-important longer look this fall . . . an imaginative and resourceful cosmetic and perfume house has just introduced a three-and-a-half-inches-long, "queen-size" automatic lipstick . . . a sensational cosmetic that bids fair to hog the spotlight . . . for you as well.

Dumplings for Dessert

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor
(From Eastern States Exposition)

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 19 — Every family has a food tradition and that makes one for every section of the country. In their midst there's bound to be a dumpling dessert that brings these country-wide food customs more closely together.

A great many of the American food customs started in New England. But they've changed so during the years that few old-timers would recognize them.

Apple dumplings are probably the oldest and Easterners still have their recipes on file. There's a Western apple dumpling recipe, too, that, although it came from Kentucky, it's made with Western apples, and it has been out there so long it's a native of the western section.

BAKED APPLE DUMPLINGS

Baking Powder Biscuit Dough.
6 medium-sized apples.
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar. 1 tsp. cinnamon.
1 tbsp. grated orange rind.
1 egg white. Powdered sugar
Dash of salt. ½ cup raisins.
2 tbsp. butter or margarine.

Prepare biscuit dough, or use plain pastry; roll ¼ inch thick and cut in 6-inch squares. Pare and core apples and place one in center of each square; fill cavities with mixture of sugar, seasonings and raisins and dot with butter. Bring opposite corners of dough together on top of apple, moisten edges of one side with water and seal; prick with fork. Brush with slightly beaten egg white and sprinkle with sugar. Bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) for 10 minutes; then reduce heat to moderate (350 deg. F.) and bake 20 minutes longer. Makes 6 dumplings.

Now there's a new dumpling that North, East, South and West can claim as their own. It's a cranberry peach dumpling with a cranberry pink hard sauce. A dumpling with distinction. A dumpling you can call your own! Here are the directions:

CRANBERRY PEACH DUMPLINGS

Cut rolled-out pastry in six-inch squares. Put peach halves filled with drained whole cranberry sauce in the center of each square. Fold over pastry, envelope-fashion, press edges together and bake at 425 deg. F. for 25 to 30 minutes. Serve warm with the following sauce:

CRANBERRY HARD SAUCE

1-3 cup butter or margarine
1 cup confectioners' sugar
3 tbsp. whole cranberry sauce, drained

Cream the butter until soft, beat in the sugar, then add the cranberry sauce and beat until fluffy. File lightly in serving dish and chill until cold but not hard. Makes 6 servings.

How WONDER BREAD Helps Build Strong Bodies 8 Ways!

Note How Amazing Wonder Bread Compares with Meat, Milk and Fish in Certain Growth and Energy-Building Contents (as stated at left)

EVERYBODY knows the foundation of good health is good nutrition.

Science now says that better nourished children learn better.

Yet, despite the fact that children do 60% of school work in the morning—7 out of 10 fail to get a good breakfast.

Thus, to start your child off on the day right, you are urged to give your child a good breakfast.

Serve the basic "Wonder 4" Breakfast. And add more of the same and other foods, according to age and appetite. The better the breakfast, the better your child.

Serve Wonder Bread to your child—because Wonder Bread gives your child 8 of the body-building elements that Nature uses to build a good health foundation.

See for yourself, at left, the 8 ways Wonder Bread helps build strong bodies.

Your child will love Wonder Bread. Because it tastes so good. So good because so fresh. Plain or toasted.

For Wonder Bread is doubly fresh. Fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it.

Because Wonder Bread is slo-baked—baked 18% longer than many ordinary kinds for lasting freshness.

So get nourishing doubly fresh Wonder Bread from your grocer today. And see that your child gets plenty of Wonder Bread for breakfast—and every meal!

Science Conquers Maternal Hazard

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (AP)—The hazard of hemorrhage, greatest single cause of maternal death in the U. S., has been almost eliminated under a blood replacement method adopted at the women's clinic of the New York hospital, a physician reported.

Dr. John Totterdale Cole said that under the new method not one death from hemorrhage has occurred in 7500 gynecologic operations and only one death from this cause occurred during 14,000 deliveries.

Dr. Cole said the basis of treatment was "the rapid restoration of blood volume by the intravenous use of blood or plasma, preferably the former."

Court-Martial Frees 2d GI in China Drownings

NANKING, Sept. 19 (INS)—Sgt. Joseph Cervone, 34, of the Bronx, N. Y., was acquitted today by a court-martial of charges of complicity in the prank drownings of two Chinese Aug. 1.

The same court-martial last month found Corp. Frank R. Aldrich, 25, Chicago, guilty of murder for pushing the two Chinese off a Nanking bridge into the river.

Gold Strike Stirs Canadian Town

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Sept. 19 (AP)—This city was seething today with the greatest gold fever felt in this part of Canada since the trail of '98 carried sourdoughs to Alaska.

Men with transits and compasses were up with the northern dawn staking claims for registration, many of them well within the limits of this city of 9000.

Word of the strike spread after a workman on a new road chipped off a piece of rock believed to have a rich gold content.

Prince Rupert is 550 miles north of Vancouver, near the southeastern Alaska boundary.

MASTER TRAFFIC PLAN

All city departments were directed by Acting Mayor Hynes today to co-operate with State and Metropolitan District commission officials working on a master plan for Boston.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School.

Q—For several years now we have had trouble with a maggot which eats our carrots. How can this pest be controlled?

A—This is probably the larvae of the carrot rust fly. Under most conditions, fall plowing and cleaning up old refuse will effect a control. In severe cases, dusting along the rows with calomel has given good control.

Q—What are the storage requirements for cabbage, turnips and potatoes?

A—All of these crops require cool storage conditions. Turnips and potatoes can be stored in bins or boxes. Cabbage will keep best if placed on a rack or shelf with good air circulation. Do not attempt to put any of these crops into storage until the weather cools off.

Q—How can one tell when potatoes are ready to dig?

A—If potato plants mature normally, the lower leaves will turn yellow first, then the whole plant will gradually die back. Potatoes can be used any time they reach the proper size, even though the vines are still green. Never dig them to store until the vines die back.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wabbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Seek Horse, Lady For Film Comedy

Columbia's top-budget Technicolor comedy, "The Return of October," with Glenn Ford in the male starring role but without two of the story's most important characters, the lady and the horse, is now in production.

Associate producer Rudy Mate is continuing to run off tests until the right girl turns up in the camera view-finder. The search for the horse, a racing thoroughbred with "a sense of humor" and a "human" appearance, was believed ended some weeks ago when a Kentucky mare was obtained from a Louisville stable but proved camera-shy. And so the search continues.

NU FACULTY ADDITIONS

President Carl S. Ell of Northeastern University announced today two additions to the faculty, John Cancian of Edgehill rd., Winthrop, and Kenneth W. Bergen of Trapelo rd., Lincoln.

BING CROSBY, as Dr. Jim Pearson, and Barry Fitzgerald, as Dr. Joseph McRory, in "Welcome Stranger," which, it is prophesied, will have you going their way to the Met. It is due to follow "Mother Wore Tights" at that theater.

'Allegro' Advance Sale Largest in City's History

"Allegro," The Theater Guild's production of the Richard Rodgers-Oscar Hammerstein 2d musical at the Colonial, now holds the record of having had an advance sale of more than $100,000, the largest advance sale in the city's history for a new play.

'Inspector Calls' Due at Plymouth

Starring Thomas Mitchell, "The Inspector Calls," a new play by J. B. Priestley, will have its American premiere at the Plymouth Theater Tuesday night, Oct. 7, when it opens a two-week run.

Courtney Burr and Lassor H. Grosberg are producing the play which was first presented in London last year by the renowned Old Vic company with Ralph Richardson in the title role.

Set in 1912, it concerns a prosperous English family which is wrapped comfortably in respectability until a police inspector calls. It is said to be one of Priestley's most provocative plays. Sir Cedric Hardwicke, a personal friend of the author who has been vastly enthusiastic over the script, is directing.

Sammy Kaye's Band Wows Its RKO Boston Audiences

By PEGGY DOYLE

One of show business' best bands, which would be Sammy So-You-Wanna-Lead-a-Band Kaye's musical outfit, is delighting RKO-Boston audiences no end.

For showmanship and interesting variety, this swing-and-sway band is unparalleled. It is true that the rasping brasses at yesterday's opening show were a bit untender on these aging eardrums but the bobbysoxers all about and around us obviously found neither flaw nor fault with this top-favorite orchestra.

From the "Where Is Sam?" opener, with its amusing, simulated ad-libbing accompaniment, to the pre-finale stunt involving Kaye's selection of two boys and two girls from the audience to come on stage and lead the band, the show moves fast and entertainingly.

The amateur band-leaders, self-confessed hookey-players from high school or jobs for the day, received an unusually attentive response from the customers. A North End lad, chosen by audience applause, will compete in the Wednesday night finals for cash prizes including the top purse of $50.

Band vocalist Don Cornell, singing "Red Silk Stockings and Green Perfume," "That's My Desire," and the opening "Where Is Sam?" lyrics, was well received. So, too, were the dancing pair, Olsen and Joy, who breeze through a "Spree in Paris" footwork routine.

The band's singing Kaydettes assist Cornell in a smartly paced takeoff of the Ink Spots to rounds of hand-clapping and laughter. Corny, but a coaxer for clamorous applause is the ornately rigged-up number following, during which Tenor Johnny Ryan's vocalizing of

SAMMY KAYE

"The Anniversary Song" is succeeded by a poetry-reading interlude with Kaye in the spotlight reading in a deadly hush.

In quite a different mood and tense is the next act, Canfield Smith and his wooden-headed friend, Snodgrass. Some of the dialogue is more blue than funny but frankly the audience appeared to like this pair.

For film fare this week there is "High Conquest," a dramatic triangle involving Anna Lee, Gilbert Roland and Warren Douglas against an unusual background of towering, beautiful Swiss Alps.

'Oklahoma' Mail Orders Accepted Mon.

Mail orders for the strictly limited five-week engagement of "Oklahoma," opening Monday, Oct. 8, will be accepted at the Colonial Theater box office beginning Monday.

The current deluge of inquiries by telephone, letter and personal calls at the box office has caused the management to augment its box office force.

A repetition of the unprecedented ticket demand which partnered the wonder musical's last engagement here two years ago is anticipated.

BIGGEST MONEY GROSSER

"The Bachelor and the Bobby-Soxer," RKO Radio's Cary Grant-Shirley Temple co-starrer which recently ended a smash engagement at Keith Memorial theater, wound up its seventh week at the New York Music Hall with about $20,000 under $1,000,000, making it the biggest money grosser of the year at a single New York house in 1947.

Braves Will Have 3 First Basemen Available in '48

By HERB FINNEGAN

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19—Much ado in the Braves camp today . . . Early jumpoff for the long trip to Brooklyn . . . Braves only 1½ games behind the Cards . . . Duffy Lewis anticipating his reunion with Harry Hooper in New York . . . Announcement that Johnny Sain, kayoed thrice in Brooklyn, would open there tomorrow . . . Johnny going after 20th win, as will Spahn Sunday . . . Talk of trades with the news Ray Sanders would be back in the fold next spring.

Billy Southworth and John Quinn visited Sanders in St. John's Hospital before the Braves-Cards finale. (Braves 6, Cards 2, for Spahn's 19th).

Sanders right-handed thrower, left-handed hitter, has been hors de combat since his left arm was broken in a collision with Erv Dusak at first base on Aug. 21, '46 in St. Louis.

He was operated on last spring, had the 'screws' removed from the arm 24 hours ago and will leave the hospital tomorrow.

"Arm should be as good as new next spring," said surgeon Patrick Murphy of Boston, who wielded the scalpel.

Sanders is an old Southworth pupil. He divided first base duties with Johnny Hopp on Southworth's '42 Cards who won 43 of their last 52 games to cop the flag and whip the Yanks in a five-game world series. Yet Sanders didn't hit in Boston, was being booed before his accident.

"Torgy will do the heavy duty next year," says Southworth. "I'll let McCormick and Sanders get in trim gradually."

It is rare that a club carries two first basemen, so you can be sure the Braves won't carry three despite Southworth's statement. Thus the trade winds.

Braves Could Use Northey and Wilks

THE CARDS need a first baseman because they plan to use Musial in the aging Terry Moore's center field spot. The Braves won't part with $75,000 Torgy. He's a future great. Whether the Cards would be interested in McCormick or Sanders as regulars is doubtful, but McCormick in particular would be good insurance in case Nipper Jones fails as did Dick Sisler before him. Indeed, the Cards were mad because McCormick wasn't picked up when Musial was ill earlier in the season.

There'll be plenty of trading this winter. Braves could use Northey's arm in the outfield, Ted Wilks as a relief pitcher. Phils want Kurowski and may get him because Schoendienst plays third as well as second. Braves need pitching and must part with something if they hope to get something. They'll never be able to pull another Herman-Elliott trade.

One lad besides Torgeson they won't trade, you can be sure, is southpaw Warren Spahn. In beating the Cards 6-2, he became the first southpaw in Braves modern history to win 19, and he'll get two more chances to make it 20.

"There's a smart pitcher," said Dizzy Dean as he watched Spahn. "Knows what it's all about. Been keeping those Cards' batters off balance all night."

Spahn is lax in the field at times, especially on bunts. Last night he let Marion score when he failed to cover first on Schoendienst's grounder to Torgeson. But he had Terry Moore popping up all night, and the other Cards didn't look particularly ferocious. His control was such he didn't walk a man.

Victory put the Braves within 1½ games of the spiritless Cards, who have lost seven of their last eight games. The Braves still entertained second place dreams as they entrained today, even though they are four games behind the Cards in the lost column.

Dyer Faces Trouble Next Season

TOMMY HOLMES played marvelous position against the Cards. He was waiting in right center for long drives by Wilber and Musial, and he actually caught Dickson's fifth-inning smash in dead center field . . . Cardinals' outfielding, on the contrary, was shoddy. Successive fly balls by Spahn and Holmes fell in front of Moore and Slaughter for doubles. The Cards are playing listless ball, are getting poor pitching. They act like a second division club at the moment, and Eddie Dyer will have his hands full trying to convince them next spring they'll be a pennant contender. Looks like Brooklyn, Braves and Giants in '48.

Elliott hit homer No. 22 with Hopp on base in the first. "I can do that, too," said Hopp, and he hit one of Dickson's fast ones on the roof for homer No. 2 . . . Holmes had two more doubles and looks like the league leader in that respect . . . Nipper Jones made three sparkling plays at second base. The first was a leaping, gloved-hand catch of Elliott's drive, the second a stop of Hopp's grounder to force Holmes at second, the third a gloved hand stop of Torgy's smash after which he pirouetted in the air and forced Elliott at second . . . Del Wilber ruptured a blood vessel in his left wrist in the seventh inning, gave way to Delrice who promptly singled home Slaughter with the Cards' first run.

Dizzy Dean pitched to the Cards batters preliminary to pitching for the Browns vs. the White Sox on the last day of the season. He huffed and puffed and said he'd be lucky to last two innings . . .

Collapse of Cardinals May Cost Dyer His Job

The complete collapse of the St. Louis Cardinals, presaging a general shakeup that may cost Manager Eddie Dyer his job, has tongues wagging around the baseball map as the Brooklyn Dodgers ease into the World Series. Now the Brooks can do no worse than tie and the magic number combination has been reduced to one.

Losing six straight since they took the middle game of the decisive Dodger series, the defending world champions now are threatened with a third-place finish. They can be mathematically eliminated tonight if they lose to the Cubs.

Owner Sam Breadon pumped life into his Redbirds in mid-season with the announcement that Dyer was to be his manager at least through the 1947 season. There has been no further declaration of policy. Those close to the club point out that the logical time to bolster the club's confidence in their boss would have been the eve of the Brooklyn series. But that important series came and went and still no definite word from Breadon on Dyer's 1948 status.

Some of the high-priced Cardinal talent that has passed its peak form probably will be peddled during the off season. The Cards cannot afford to stand pat against the up-and-coming Brooklyn youth movement. Unconfirmed reports have Marty Marion, Whitey Kurowski and Howie Pollet slated for other pastures before a new season. The monied Phillies and Pirates, mired in the second division, are the logical markets.

Brooklyn must have taken more out of the Cardinals last week than was readily discernible. By sweeping two of three they almost snuffed out all Cardinal hopes but the reaction was terrific. Losing three in a row to New York and two more to Boston, after blowing that sun-struck finale with the Dodgers, the Cards appear to have disintegrated completely.

In the midst of all this misfortune, the man who is most often mentioned in St. Louis as a possible successor for Dyer, if Breadon does not renew his contract, Terry Moore, will be given a "night" tonight. It could be symbolic.

Brooklyn blew a chance to apply the mathematical clincher when they bowed to Pittsburgh in the afternoon, 8-7. A Dodger win, combine with the Cards' loss, would have snuffed out the last hope.

Wally Westlake upset the Brooks with a ninth inning homer, assuring a victory over his former mates for reliefer Kirby Higbe. The rightander who was sold to the Pirates with four other players in May for about $250,000 will have to be satisfied with that win instead of the Series cut he might have received in Flatbush. Ralph Kiner belted home run No. 50 and Bruce Edwards, Jackie Robinson and Carl Furillo hit homers for the Dodgers, who twice blew comfortable leads.

The Giants' record home run total hit 211 for the year on Bobby Thomson's two-run clout in the third inning of their 9-5 edge over Chicago. Sheldon Jones, relieving Larry Jansen in the third, recorded his first win over rookie Johnny Miller.

Cincinnati's Ed Erautt, a late starter, earned his fourth victory of a disappointing freshman season, as the Reds clubbed Dutch Leonard for 15 hits in a 9-4 decision over the Phillies. It was their first win over the knuckle ball artist who beat them three times.

Frank (Spec) Shea hurled his first complete game since July 5 when he threw a four-hitter against Chicago for a 3-1 victory. Shea, a strong possibility to open the series for the Yankees, despite arm trouble that sidelined him for a month in mid-season, had a shutout until Rudy York homered in the ninth.

Rookie Bob Kuzava, up from Baltimore, hurled a five-hit shutout as Cleveland clubbed Washington, 4-0, advancing to within a half game of third-place Detroit in a night game. Detroit and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Sox Start Stobbs

Chuck Stobbs, six-foot-one, 18-year-old graduate from Granby High of Norfolk, Va., and Lynn of the New England League, was unveiled in a starting role by Mgr. Joe Cronin as the Red Sox entertained the Washington Senators in a single game at Fenway Park this afternoon.

Stobbs has served twice in relief roles and has shown to good advantage. The first time was in the White Sox series when he took over with two on base and one out. He got the first batter, but Luke Appling singled to score a run and Cronin yanked him.

The next time the southern schoolboy ace went to the mound, he pitched two innings, striking out three and allowing no runs. He was lifted for a pinch hitter.

His N. E. League record is one of the best. He won 9 games while dropping 2. In the semi-final round of the league playoffs, he won and lost to Manchester.

Besides being a great high school hurler, he is well known on the gridiron. The Lynn Classical football team that played in Miami last year claimed that he was the best forward passer they saw in schoolboy ranks. Though Lynn won the game, Stobbs' passes, which ranged up to 60 yards, kept the Classical boys on edge.

The smallest Fenway crowd (3592) of the year saw the Sox beat the St. Louis Browns in their season's finale yesterday, 10-6, while Ted Williams added to his American League batting lead by belting out three hits in five trips to the plate. He's currently batting .341.

Ted must be sorry to see the last Browns' game wiped from the Sox schedule for he has made merry at the expense of the St. Louis pitchers both at Fenway and Sportsmen's Park. He has 39 hits in 62 AB's for an average of .476 off their offerings.

Mele was the top hitter of the day, getting 5 for 5 . . . Doerr got two, including his 17th home run of the season . . . The Sox spotted the Browns 6 runs in the first three innings before going to work . . . Tommy Fine and Harry Dorish were easy targets for the Browns . . . Bob Klinger hurled the best ball for the Sox and received credit for the victory.

Quakers Show Promis Of Leading Ivy Leagu

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Forced to operate w backstage while Army hogged the spotlight the past thr years, Ivy League football appears ready to come into its own again this season with a hefty, experienced Pennsylvania team promising to lead the parade.

Yale and Harvard, which shared honors with the Quakers last year in a three-way title tie, are willing and able to give Penn another wrestle and Columbia threatens to make the struggle a four-cornered affair.

Cornell, which kept Yale from winning the 1946 title outright by deadlocking the Elis, who won more league games than anybody else, and Princeton, the team that contributed to the confusion by upsetting Penn, figure to give the favorites some more unpleasant days.

The only teams which aren't given the slightest preseason chance to come out on top are Dartmouth and Brown.

With the exception of fullback Ed Allen, Coach George Munger of Penn is blessed with the same brilliant collection of backfield talent he had last year, including Tony Minisi, Don Schneider, Bob Deuber, Bill Luongo, Carmen Falcone, Ed Lawless, Bob Evans and several others.

He is equally well fortified up front, where considerable line experience is draped around the likes of center Chuck Bednarik and tackle George Savitsky.

Howie Odell, starting his sixth year at Yale, has what may turn out to be one of the nation's best backfield combinations in Levi Jackson, Tex Furse, Fred Nadherny and Art Fitzgerald, with a liberal sprinkling of newcomers to use among his alternates.

Yale's unknown quality is its line, where the tackle situation must be remedied and the centers are mainly untried.

Yale and Penn stayed out of each other's way last season and, unfortunately for the fans, do not meet this year.

Harvard will miss Jack Fisher at center but Coach Dick Harlow has 20 lettermen back amid indications that his Crimson crew, one of the defensive standouts of 1946, again will be tough to score against.

Hal Moffie, a talented rookie runner, may get into the starting Harvard backfield along with Tom Gannon, Vince Moravec and Jim Kenary and there is some talk that Emil Drvaric, a 200-pounder who played a lot of guard last season, may be worked into Harlow's backfield plans.

Columbia, like Yale, will field a high-powered backfield behind a questionmark line. Coach Lou Little already has molded veterans Gene Rossides, Lou Kusserow, Bill Olson and Ventan Yablonski into a formidable backfield and is busy trying to find the proper robust forwards to assemble on either side of center Clyde Hampton.

George (Lefty) James, taking over as head man at Cornell, inherited some good prospects as well as some headaches from Ed McKeever. Center Lou Daukas and tackles Harry Furman and Frank Wydo will be hard to replace but such backs as Walt Kretz and Hillary Chollet may make James forget his troubles.

An indication of Princeton's potentialities may be seen in the fact that Coach Charley Caldwell returns with a squad including every member of the starting team which knocked off Pennsylvan 17-14, in one of the major surpris of 1946.

Dartmouth won only one ga in seven league starts last ye and Tuss McLaughry's squ doesn't figure to be much bett this time. Rip Engle also has job to do at Brown, but if Quarte back Ed Finn comes through, t team should win some games a might stay out of the cellar aga

IF IT SHOULD RAI

Getting together with off cials from Clemson College an Braves Field, John P. Curle graduate manager of athletic at Boston College, came to a agreement wherein the B. C Clemson game, scheduled fo Friday night, Sept. 26, will b played the following evening i the event of bad weather.

Villanova Ace Sidelined For Kings Point Opener

VILLANOVA, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP)—Halfback Joe Rogers, the East's top groundgainer in 1946, will be absent from the starting lineup tomorrow as his Villanova College teammates face Kings Point in their first football game of the season.

Rogers has been bothered by a bad cold

DONELLI LETS UP ON WEARY TERRIERS

"The squad is very, very tired," asserted "Buff Donelli, "and we're going to take it easy for the next few days." With that in mind, the Terrier grid mentor called off yesterday's practice session and limited the day's activities to blackboard drills and the screening of the Holy Cross scrimmage films of last Saturday.

Because of the entanglement of registration, the freshman team reported today. More than 80 candidates will vie for the team.

Jim Anderson, Belfast, Me., former Terrier fullback who was injured in the opener last year, is assisting Ed Donnelly in coaching the freshman team. Ed played on the Third Air Force grid squad while in the service.

When Mohawk College comes to town there will be at least 10 familiar faces on the squad . . . Probable starters from the local set are Roger Melanson and George Sasso, guards from Malden . . . Nick Belisis, also from Malden, may start in the right half position . . . There are also six players from Framingham on the squad . . . Hugo Primiani, 255-pound freshman tackle from New Britain, Ct., turned his ankle a few days ago.

NU Scrimmage At Worcester

Northeastern will test its running attack and its highly improved aerial offense tomorrow when it tangles with Worcester Tech in a supervised scrimmage.

Coach Johnny Grinnell has his fingers crossed about this outside session, for the Huskies are just about skin-deep in most positions and injuries would be disastrous. The first blow hit Last night when Bob Sharp, regular right guard, reported a back complaint and will be out indefinitely. Sharp won't play against Springfield in the opener a week from tomorrow at least.

The Huskies will use tomorrow's scrimmage to test several new players and to help settle some of the starting lineup problems.

Tufts Coach Shifts Earle Tryder to Line

Coach Fish Ellis worked today to build up depth in his Tufts College tackle squad. He shifted fullback Earle Tryder, a 202-pounder into the line.

Hawaiian Amateur Boxers Will Be Feted Here Today

Eight battling members of the Hawaiian boxing team, under head coach Frank Gomes, flew into Boston yesterday and immediately moved into training for the amateur fight program to be presented next Wednesday night at Boston Garden, involving teams from New England, Cleveland, Pittsburgh as well as the Islands.

The crew will continue to work out at Sharkey's gym in the North End, and were scheduled to receive a welcoming reception today at the Hotel Manger.

The fighters included flyweight Yoshi Miyamura, runner-up in the Nationals last spring; Roy Higa, in the bantamweight class; featherweight Dick Kikuyama; lightweight Richard Cabral, National AAU titlist; welterweight Frank Kikuyama; middleweight Luvender Woodbridge; light-heavyweight Wilroy Wells, and heavyweight Johnnie Contrades.

Teams from other cities will move into the Hub the first of the week.

Navy Eleven Ready to Go

WHIDBEY ISLAND NAVAL AIR STATION, Wash., Sept. 19 (AP)—With Navy's football team shaping into a smooth-running offensive machine in this island training retreat, coach Tom Hamilton had only polishing-up drills on the schedule yesterday and today in preparation for Saturday's full dress scrimmage session with the University of Washington huskies.

The Seattle scrimmage is scheduled to be the last hard-jolting workout prior to the opening game against California September 27.

Hamilton has eased off on the contact work for ace halfbacks Pistol Pete Williams and Billy Earl, and neither is expected to see much action aginst Washington.

The main string backfield nor the scrimmage is expected to include Ben Moore in their left halfback spot, Reaves Baysinger at quarter, Al McCully at right half and Bill Hawkins at full. McCully has been the star ground gainer of the last two middle scrimmages, and Baysinger has sparkled as a passer.

New Sportsmen's Board Studies State Fish, Game

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

As most Massachusetts anglers and hunters are aware, Gov. Robert Bradford recently appointed a five-man board of sportsmen to advise Director James Power, of the Fisheries and Game Div., on its policies and plans. Chairman of this group is Harold Morrill, of Newton. Mr. Morrill is an ardent conservationist; he's hunted and fished for decades; his work for the powerful Middlesex County League of Sportsmen's Clubs is well known, and he has been closer to the political side of fishing and gunning than nearly anyone else in the Bay State.

Whenever there's a hearing or discussion on a sportsmen's bill at the State House, Harold Morrill is on hand. His knowledge of such affairs will prove invaluable to the new board.

"We intend to do everything possible to see that this state gets more fish and game," he told us. "We have already visited the various hatcheries and game farms, making a survey of the present situation. There is plenty of work attached to this job, but we shall do our very best for the sportsmen.

"Most of the local rod and gun clubs favor the board," he added, "but there are a few that resent our appointments. However, I feel that we will have the support of the majority. And by the way, a recent rumor had it that two members of the board were in a rage about conditions in the Dept. of Conservation. This is news to me! Of course, all is not well, but there's nothing wrong that can't be straightened out!"

In our opinion, the five-man board has long been needed, and we shall give it our complete cooperation.

OUTDOOR O. O.'s: Big bass are hitting like hurricanes in the waters around Cuttyhunk! Word from Lloyd Bosworth, skipper of a party boat, reveals that his wife hooked a 42-pound striper this week, using an eelskin—for which Cuttyhunk is famous. Her catch will be entered in the Jacob Ruppert and Field and Stream fishing contests . . . "Coot" Hall, ace guide of the Island, has been taking quite a few fish . . . Isaiah Tilton, another "old-timer," is also boating his share of the savory specimens.

New Hampshire's inland duck shooting will have a split season, the first period running from Oct. 7 through Oct. 18; with the second set at Dec. 2-Dec. 13, inclusive . . . Scoters may be bagged from Sept. 1 until Oct. 6, and during the regular duck seasons.

BOATS 2665 LBS. OF TUNA OFF IPSWICH

IPSWICH, Sept. 19 (AP)—This is a fish story that beats many tales.

Ben Smith, 2d, of Gloucester, came in with five tuna weighing a total of 2665 pounds—all landed within one hour and 13 minutes, about four miles off Plum Island.

Fishermen in this old port claim it's an Atlantic coast record—at least they never heard of anything better.

Smith made his first strike within 12 minutes—a 597 pounder. And then, in rapid fire order, landed tunas weighing 632, 477, 448 and 511.

Quits Notre Dame To Enter Seminary

Jim Flanagan, a starting flankman on the 1943 Notre Dame football club, left the South Bend, Ind., campus and his law studies to enter St. John's Seminary in Brighton to begin his studies for priesthood.

Until yesterday, Flanagan was a candidate for Frank Leahy's 1947 Irish team. He informed the college authorities of his plans and then entrained for his home at 43 Sturgesa st., Roxbury, from where he will enter the seminary.

He saw limited service with the Irish as reserve end in 1942 but was a regular the following year before entering the Naval V-12 program.

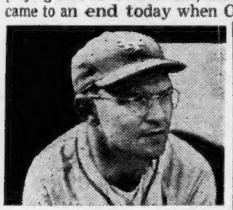
Ott Quits Active List To Make Room for Kids

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—The 22-year major league playing career of Mel Ott, manager of the New York Giants, came to an end today when Ott announced that he had removed his name from the club's active player roster.



MEL OTT, GIANTS' PILOT
Ends Active Playing Days

Ott released the news to sports writers as the train carrying the National Leaguers eastward for their final home stand left Chicago. He said he took the step to make room for the addition of rookies who will be used in the lineup between now and the end of the season. The player limit including rookies is 40.

The 38-year-old Louisianan, who started in the big time with the Giants in 1926 holds the modern major league record for service with one club. His other marks read like an index page to the record book. He has been manager of the club since December 2, 1941.

He holds the National League lifetime marks for most home runs, runs scored, runs batted in, total bases (5041), bases on balls (1708), extra base hits (1071), and extra bases on long hits (2165). For eight years he knocked out 30 or more home runs a season—another record.

Ott led the league in home runs in 1936, 1938 and 1942 and tied for the leadership in 1932, 1934 and 1937. He was the league's leading outfielder in 1935 and had the most assists in the 1929 and 1942 seasons.

Ott's last home run, No. 511 in his career, came on his first trip to the plate last season. Shortly after that, his knees began giving him trouble and, within a few weeks, he was spending a large part of the time on the bench.

HYPNOTIC TACKLE DISRUPTS PRACTICE

HERSHEY, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP)—A tackle with hypnotic powers can do things to a football team in training—but not good.

Rex Morgan, 26-year-old lineman, is such a tackle and Coach George Munger has ruled the things Morgan has been doing to the University of Pennsylvania squad must continue no longer.

Morgan picked up the hobby of hypnotism while serving in Europe as a captain in the Army Quartermaster Corps and brought it with him to Penn's training camp here.

Since then strapping six-footers have been barking like dogs, sleeping in peculiar positions and otherwise acting like persons possessed.

Munger then issued his no-hypnotism edict. It's all right if Morgan practices his hobby on Lafayette, Dartmouth and Penn's other football opponents—but on Penn's players, no, no a thousand times no, says Munger.

Morgan himself doubts the probable success of hypnotic suggestion during a football game.

"I don't know whether it would work in a game," he said. "After all there has to be some hypnotic expectancy, and besides it takes time—anywhere from 30 seconds to an hour depending on the subject."

Morgan gave a demonstration several days ago in the Penn squad's dormitory how hypnotism might be employed during a football game. Using a teammate as a subject, the big tackle fixed him with a steely glint.

"You are about to receive," Morgan said, "the hardest blow of your life."

Morgan then touched the other lightly with his left forefinger and the player dropped to the floor as though he had been pole-axed. And no one but Morgan could bring him out of his trance.

The Penn football crowds may have some interesting sights in store.

N. Y. Bans Out-of-State Race Horses

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Shipment of horses from outside areas to New York tracks has been banned by the tracks' stabling committee to prevent an outbreak of swamp fever but the action is expected to have little adverse effect on the remaining racing programs here.

With Belmont Park opening its 18-day fall meeting on Monday, virtually all championship aspirants in the various divisions are already stabled in the Long Island area.

Announcement of the stabling committee's action—most drastic step yet taken here to combat the New England swamp fever epidemic—was made last night after a new case of the dread animal disease was reported in a nearby locality.

Prisoners Returned After Daring Break

Back to State Prison—Their short-lived bid for freedom ended by alert Charlestown police, Earl R. Baker, 37, and his brother, George, 35, enter State Prison under heavy guard today a few hours after they scaled the wall with a third prisoner and dashed into the pre-dawn darkness. Police are still searching for the third man, George E. Hayes, 30, of Waltham.

Escape

Photo-diagram shows how the Baker brothers and George E. Hayes escaped State Prison. The felons fled cell via ventilator (arrow), used rope to drop to ground, raced (white line) to west wall, where they used a hook and rope to escape between two guard posts. The Bakers were recaptured shortly after, but Hayes is still at liberty.
